Board Rejects Consoer For Survey of Sewers

The Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

Cook County Board of Commissioners should be reprimanded by school patrons for their approval of a new housing project, without provisions for financial aid from the builder of a new building project in school district 26.

Only one member, John Mackler had the stamina to vote "no."

We understand the other members from the country towns capitulated to the threat of the builder that if denied approval he would get it from the courts.

We think an explanation should be forthcoming from Commissioners Fulle, Erickson and Chaplin, all of whom lay claim to being personally interested in the northwest towns.

The action of the county board can be called a defeat for the school boards and municipal authorities who have previously won concession of buildings and cash from subdividers.

We can see the Herzog organization, which fought so strenuously against concessions in Elk Grove, saying "why did we give in?"

Arlington Heights Club, a few acres of land with Fox River frontage on 2 sides west of Fox River Grove, is the most independent community in Illinois.

It does not have to worry about building restrictions, municipal incorporation, or special assessments. It holds a state charter, issued over 50 years ago, which guarantees its autonomy. Nearly all of the 19 lots are held by descendants of the original families.

We have enjoyed a lot of wonderful weather this summer. The hot humid days have been few; we have had plenty of moisture; the nights have been cool.

The only fly in the ointment has been the prolific growth of crab grass. Nearly everyone we consult about the obnoxious breed of grass has a different cure.

If we do not fight the crab, it will eventually take over our entire lawn. It is to be a lifetime battle because its seed lives 25 years in the ground. This year's moisture explains its unusual growth.

Evidently, nature does not want us to have too many blessings.

Some statistics regarding youth population that appeared in the Rolling Meadows edition last week will probably be repeated in the next few years in Elk Grove Village and other housing developments. The census of children under 17 years in Rolling Meadows is no guess work. They are official from the U. S. census.

With a total population of 8,416 there are 3, 914 children in that age group. There are 2,495 children aged 5 years or less—a problem for school officials of the future to worry about.

Have you noticed the local cartoons that are appearing each week on the feature page of Paddock newspapers? This week's cartoon is based on a few statements given in an interview published last week, in which John T. Jarecki, former U. S. collector of internal revenue, outlined future Democratic battle lines in Wheeling township.

He admitted that many Chicago Democrats become Republicans when they move to the suburbs and become home owners. He charges the suburbs are saddled with absentee political leadership with no spokesman interested or influential enough to look after the special interests of the territory.

In a way he is right. Remember the personal relationship that existed for 50 years between the late County Commissioner Wm. Busse and the four northwest townships?

The population of those four townships now exceeds 100,000 and they are entitled to consideration by the political powers that be. The Democratic organization in its efforts to capture the Republican stronghold will not hesitate to do a lot of "giveaway."

The Republican party should be alive to the situation and man its battle lines with more than just [illegible]

Bukowski Defends Engineers

A long-standing business relationship between the Village of Arlington Heights and its engineering consultant, Consoer, Townsend and Associates, was imperiled Tuesday when the village board voted down a motion to retain the firm to make a comprehensive study of sewerage problems.

The board's action was, in effect, a vote of no confidence against Consoer, Townsend and Associates. Trustee Robert H. Bukowski, chairman of the sewer committee, was the only board member voting in favor of the present village engineering consultant.

AT THE SAME TIME, the board voted 4-2 against hiring the firm of Greeley and Hansen of Chicago to undertake the sewer study. Most of the board members voting against this motion, however, said they were doing so only because they wanted to meet with this firm to discuss its proposals.

A motion to this effect was passed; the meeting has been set for Tuesday night at the Village Hall. Another Chicago engineering firm was also invited to submit proposals.

Bukowski opened the discussion by outlining the scope of the proposed survey. The study should include a study of the capacity of present sewerage facilities, improvements needed, priority of work and detailed plans for correcting any deficiencies.

Bukowski contended that Consoer and Townsend was the best firm to perform the study because it is familiar with the system and has done partial studies on it in the past.

In addition, Bukowski emphasized that Greeley and Hansen's quoted fee of $15,000 was twice as much as the figure which Consoer and Townsend had quoted orally.

HOWEVER, other board members called for what Trustee Frederick A. Weber called "a new approach." Trustee Wendell L. Prunty said that, while he personally had a lot of confidence in Consoer and Townsend, "we must satisfy the will of the people" and hire another firm to make a complete study of the Village's sewer needs.

Trustee John F. Hoover said that there is much dissatisfaction with Consoer and Townsend because of the recent flooding from the heavy rains of July 12 which dumped as much as 6.25 inches of rain on the city within 12 hours, breaking an 85-year-old record.

Hoover said that the members of his wife's bridge club had accosted her and told her that "her husband's engineering friends" were responsible for the failure of sewers.

Mayor Edward G. Carlisle reminded the board that Consoer and Townsend could not be blamed for the drainage problems of the city because the sewers the firm designed empty into others which were in existence long before Consoer and Townsend became the village's consultants back in the 1930's. "If we go out to get bids from others, Consoer and Townsend will resign," he warned.

CARL BOWEN, partner in Consoer and Townsend, had previously warned the board that his firm would resign as the village's consultant if it decided to choose a consultant merely on the basis of price. He said that procedure was unethical and no engineering firm would accept the job on that basis.

"In the situation in which you find yourselves — lacking confidence in your engineers — you should hire an additional consultant to review our report," Bowen suggested.

However, board members retorted that, since they were spending the the public's money, prime consideration had to be given to the cost.

But the board was adamant to hiring only a reviewer of Consoer and Townsend's report. The expressed feeling of the members was for a completely independent study even if it costs twice as much.

ALL EYES WERE TURNED on Laird Williamson (right) as he spoke as a disgusted subway rider in a scene in "Dear Ruth," presented by Summer Stage, a student summer theater group, last weekend. Others in the photo, taken at a hectic rehearsal Thursday, are Joan Edmonds and John Liebenow.

Confusion, Excitement Mark Opening Night for Amateurs

One night in the basement of Arlington Heights' North school last week:

A stern voice admonished "Don't sit on the furniture anybody — it's borrowed."

A 15-year-old weaved around the room carrying in one hand a bottle filled with an amber-colored water;

A leading-man type in T-shirt and sport coat put sugar into his fourth cup of coffee;

And, above the din, a girl shrieked "Everybody in scene 11 on stage."

SUCH WAS THE confusion on the night before Summer Stage opened with 2 performances of "Dear Ruth."

The high-jinx and the hectic atmosphere finally eased off and rehearsals began in earnest, for as Tom Hawk, the group's director, pointed out:

"These kids are really interested in putting on good plays and doing them well."

AUDIENCES AGREED after the 2 shows that the young actors and stage crews did indeed display a wealth of high spirits and willingness to learn. If some of the polish seen in the performances of their adult sponsors, Village Theatre, was lacking, no one seemed to mind.

Summer Stage began last summer as an idea in the heads of 2 Arlington high school juniors. Penny Pearne and Frank Embrey felt high school and college students needed more to do. They sold the idea to Village Theatre, which offered lighting equipment but wisely, tendered little advice.

The group provided 39 high school and college students with an outlet for their talents and with experience this summer. Those who were not in the cast of "Dear Ruth" might be found doing anything from writing radio plugs to scrounging for costumes. One girl wangled a loan of props from Arlington Furniture Mart and Lisa's drapery shop.

Members come from Arlington Heights, Palatine, Mount Prospect and the areas between.

THEIR DIRECTOR is a 22-year-old senior and drama major at Illinois Wesleyan university. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Hawk of 1103 Watling, Arlington Heights.

"Things may get to the bedlam stage now and then," said Hawk, making for the stage to slow down a girl galloping through her lines, "but that's half of the fun."

Army Transfers Area Nike Headquarters to Arlington

Headquarters for all the Army's Nike guided missile units in the Chicago area have been transferred from Chicago to the missile station at the former Arlington airport, the army announced this week.

APPROXIMATELY 1.5 million dollars worth of construction work is now being done at the Central rd. base and facilities for about 200 additional staff members are being provided.

Presently stationed at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry, the 45th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Brigade transfered its command as of August 19. The new administration headquarters will be ready for occupancy around the first of September.

ALSO SCHEDULED for completion in September are a portion of the non-commissioned officers' quarters and the bachelor officers' quarters. Planned for the future are a special services building, which will include a library, lounging room, music room, and snack shop, and a motor maintenance depot.

The government owns approximately 200 acres in the Central rd. development, purchased shortly before World War II.

According to the information office, most of the transferred personnel will be officers and will live off post. However, future plans call for some 75 homes to be built to house married staff members. Athletic facilities are also in the planning stage.

BRIG. GEN. SCHMICK

A PROSPECT Heights resident Brigadier General Peter Schmick, commands the 45th AAA Brigade. Schmick resides at 211 E. McDonald rd. with his wife, Edith, and 2 daughters.

Some 2 dozen Nike sites make up the 45th Brigade, which is the headquarters for the Chicago-Gary Anti-Aircraft Defense.

Born in Canada, General Schmick became a naturalized American citizen in 1924. A graduate of West Point in 1931, he went on to attend the Command and General Staff college in 1943 and the Army War college in 1950.

Prior to assuming command of the 45th AAA Brigade, General Schmick was the Commanding General of the 31st AAA Brigade at McChord AFB, Tacoma, Washington.

He is the recipient of the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Commendation Ribbon with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Ulchi Distinguished Military Service Medal, with silver star (Republic of Korea).

A HISTORY of the Central rd. site shows that the army began operations there during World War II, training naval aviators. Later it was leased as a private air field and trailer camp.

The army took over the airport in January, 1955, following legal action necessary to evict trailer camp tenants. It became operational as a guided missile base in June, 1955.

Two batteries of the 86th AAA Missile battalion and a battery of the 78th AAA Missile battalion have made up the station complement. Normal strength of a missile battery is 100 men and 8 officers.

The Nike, named for the Greek goddess of victory, is a liquid-fueled anti-aircraft missile, approximately 20 feet long and about one foot in diameter. It has 2 sets of fins for guidance and the missile and its booster weigh slightly more than one ton.

Wallace Quits As Chamber Manager

The board of directors of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce accepted the resignation of Dwight H. Wallace, manager for the past 19 months, at a Friday meeting.

Robert E. Kozeliski, chamber president, said Wallace resigned due to ill health. Wallace was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Wallace was appointed manager in January, 1956, coming here from Ottumwa, Iowa, where he had been associated with his father in a printing and office supply business.

SHORTLY AFTER taking the position, Wallace moved the Chamber office out of village hall into its present N. Dunton st. headquarters. He started a credit bureau in connection with the chamber. It later ceased operation. He also drew up preliminary plans for a chamber building in Railroad park, opposite the village hall.

The chamber still hopes to erect the office building if financing can be arranged.

Kozeliski said the local chamber has contacted the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce about obtaining a replacement.

Taxes Due Now

Deadline for second installment of 1956 real estate taxes is next week. Local collectors will accept payments until Aug. 31. A penalty will be charged after Sept. 1.

Teen-Agers Dance At Pioneer Park

A dance will be held by the Young People's bowling league of Arlington Heights from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. Friday at the new Pioneer park community building. Bowling league members will be admitted free; others will be charged 50 cents. The Jim Schipper Quartet will provide the music.

All Arlington Heights area teen-agers are invited.

Litterbugs Cost Public Dollars

Arlington Heights parks and downtown business districts would look a good deal more attractive if — —Youngsters and adults would put candy, ice cream and cigarette wrappers into litter baskets.

—Businessmen would place sidewalk sweepings into their own garbage cans instead of, in some cases, pushing them off into the gutter.

—Motorists and pedestrians would stop using railroad park as a giant wastebasket.

These are some of the suggestions offered by the 2 men who are charged with keeping the village's streets and recreation facilities clean.

"We send a mobile street sweeper through the downtown area 3 mornings a week," said Bill Luehring, village superintendent of public works. "But many people, either careless or ornery about trash, will throw litter anywhere, even if there is a basket at arm's length."

PARK DISTRICT director Tom Thornton pointed to the heavy cost of picking up after the litterbugs. He estimated that the park district spends $1,000 a summer for labor alone—an expense which eats up all the concession stand profits plus several hundred dollars more—policing up parks.

Thornton said that 48 man hours are consumed weekly retrieving trash. The situation is worse, he noted, during racing season.

Last year park employees found 20 whiskey bottles under bushes in Railroad park in a single day.

Both men reported that apartment dwellers who live near parks have thrown trash from their apartments into the street corner receptacles.

"We've told them time and again not to. It does little good," said Thornton.

"If the public realized how much cleaning up operations cost," noted Luehring, "we might not have to do much of it."

6-Year-Old Found 2 Miles From Home; Praise Scouts

Lost while playing near his home at 230 S. Reuter ave., James Mayhercy, 6, caused his parents to suffer through 10 anxious hours last Friday before he was found safe but hungry 2 miles from his home.

James, who recently moved to Arlington Heights with his parents, left to play at Pioneer park near his home at 10 a. m. When he did not return by 1:45 p. m., his mother called Arlington Heights police. They, in turn, notified police from Rolling Meadows and Palatine. A thorough search of the neighborhood was made.

WHEN THE BOY was not found by 8:30 p. m., the fire department was summoned and about 100 volunteers were recruited to search the fields south of his home. The boy scouts were also called and 30 of them responded within minutes. An inch-by-inch search was made.

However, it was not until 10:19 p. m. that the boy was found sleeping on the sidewalk at Virginia Terrace by Mrs. J. Munk, of 1230 N. Race ave. Except for being tired and hungry, James was none the worse for his experience.

Sgt. O. E. Johnson of the Arlington Heights police department was deeply impressed with the speed of the Boy Scouts in organizing for the search. A letter of thanks was sent to Explorer Post No. 32 praising it as a "worthy and fine organization."

Zoners Stiffen on Off-Street Parking, Reject Waiver for Proposed Building

By a unanimous vote, the Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals Monday refused Howard Faber's appeal for waiver of the off-street parking requirements on his proposed building at the northwest corner of Dunton and Miner streets.

Faber plans to raze the bakery retail store now fronting on Dunton street and erecting 7 new stores, 4 facing Miner street and 3 fronting on Dunton street. The building in the rear where the baking is done, a 2211 square foot structure, is to be left intact.

Adding to this the total area of the new construction, 5,700 square feet, 7,900 of the total property area of 8,770 feet will be taken up, leaving little area for parking.

The plan calls for only 2 parking stalls, far short of the 26 required by the ordinance.

RONALD H. STAHL, Faber's architect, explained that the new construction would exceed the existing square footage by only 900 in area.

However, ing board pointed out that the new construction will take up more ground space than the existing buildings, leaving less area for parking. The discussion brought out that there are now 5 parking stalls.

Faber contended that the parking requirement should be waived because there is no parking problem. He said customers would not mind parking a short distance away from his stores. Reading from a prepared statement, he said he made surveys of the traffic problem on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week and found that at no time were 60 per cent of the downtown parking spaces occupied.

When told by a board member that this would not be the case after his stores went up, Faber [illegible] that the business growth of Arlington Heights should not be sacrificed for off-street parking. He said that the availability of retail stores in Arlington Heights is lagging, resulting in the mushrooming of shopping centers around the village.

"We need stores first; then we'll worry about the parking problems," he asserted.

BOARD MEMBER Vernon Hagenbring emphasized importance of the parking problem. He said that in Mt. Prospect several buildings were torn down in order to alleviate the parking situation.

Two spectators gave conflicting views of the parking problem. Clifford Schapanski, who operates the Arlington Radio and Record shop, claimed that there is no parking problem on Dunton or Miner streets. His business is about ¼ of a block away from the proposed construction. But Richard Black, whose funeral home adjoins Faber's property, said he had trouble with Faber's employees parking on his lot.

He asserted that he does not want to be constantly guarding his parking lot and promised to get legal assistance if the waiver was granted.

BOARD CHAIRMAN, Victor H. Beisler explained that in order for a waiver to be granted the builder had to prove the existence of a practical difficulty necessitating the exemption. Faber explained that he had to construct the first 2 buildings so that they would connect to the rear bake shop in order to continue the bakery operation. This would leave only the best land on the corner for parking, he said.

The board, however, disagreed that this constituted a practical difficulty as defined by the ordinance. After adjourning behind closed doors for a private discussion, the board members emerged and voted unanimously that Faber's appeal be denied.

Beisler said afterwards that the off-street parking ordinance must be enforced; otherwise, every future builder would expect a waiver, defeating the purpose of the ordinance to give adequate parking for future development.

LEANING OUT OF THE CAB, Ronald L. Bradley of Arlington Heights appears to be turning a handle on a small locomotive. Actually the iron monster is a farm tractor, manufactured in 1919. Bradley, who is Elk Grove township road commissioner, will take his tractor to a threshermen's reunion in Pontiac next week.

Finds Dime Goes Far in Arlington

"A dime will buy a lot more in Arlington Heights than it will in Shakerag, Wis," observed Don Hitchcock on his return home after a week's visit to Mineral Point, Wis.

"I picked up a copy of the Mineral Point Tribune for the same size dime I use to buy the Arlington Heights Herald, and was amazed at the difference in both size and content. That 8-page paper they have up there is a lot different than the Herald," continued Hitchcock.

MINERAL POINT used to be called Shakerag, because wives would call their husbands home from the mines when dinner was ready by waving a rag from the front door. Everything was on a hill and that waving flag was easy to spot at mealtime.

Hitchcock visited a Mineral Point friend who had stayed with him in a tent in 1919 on a spot that is now the Arlington Bowling lanes. Hitchcock had come to town in 1919 with his friend, living in a tent until he located a satisfactory house. (A

Christenings

Albert Markman Woodrow Peters, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Peters, 7 N. Northwest hwy., Palatine, was christened Sunday in St. Phillip Episcopal church, Palatine, by Rev. Sheldon Foote. Eighteen guests attended the family party following the baptism, at the home of the baby's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Peters, 403 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

Included among the guests were the baby's godparents, Mrs. Wilbur Brown, aunt of the baby's mother from Oxnard Cal., and J. Woodrow Benson, uncle of the baby's father from Chicago, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Glover M. Young, formerly of Arlington Heights and now of Des Plaines. The baby is the first child of the Peters and was born May 10.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poulos, 1225 N. Dunton, was christened Mary Elizabeth in the impressive rites of the Greek Orthodox faith Sunday on her parents' 13th wedding anniversary. The ceremony, which prescribes the total immersion of the baby and its complete annointment with oil, was performed at 12:30 in the afternoon in St. George church in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Panos of Chicago are the godparents, Mrs. Panos taking the place of the mother, who, by custom, does not attend the services. Among the many relatives and friends at the church were the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Poulos of Chicago. Mrs. Mable Collins, maternal grandmother, also of Chicago, was unable to attend either the christening or the reception that followed because of illness.

A reception was held at 4 o'clock at the Poulos home for over 100 relatives and friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Doucette of Evanston. Mr. Doucette, a professional chef whose TV program is well-known, assisted Mrs. Poulos at the buffet, laden with over 30 various Greek and American foods, which featured the traditional whole roasted lamb, pastitso, Greek wines and pastries. Later in the evening the guests enjoyed folk dancing to their native music on records in the Poulos family possession.

The first activity for the new school committee of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Woman's club Arlington Heights will be an old fashioned ice cream social to be held Sunday Aug. 25.

Modern physicians have new skilled diagnostic techniques that enable them to more certainly know the cause of a sickness. The pharmaceutical profession supplies them with many new perfected drugs that can be depended upon to accomplish a desired result. Physicians no longer rely on just a few medicines carried in their bag or office. Why Christmas

Furs Cost Less

In August

Many budget-wise women look to special months for traditional sales. January, for exampie, is known for white sales.

August is the month of annual fur sales, when fur bargains are at their greatest. There are two reasons why these sales come at this time: (1) you have the biggest selection of furs at the beginning of the season and (2) traditionally a hot month, people aren't generally inclined towards fur buying.

Putting these two together, you can have the fur pieces you've wanted — or the fur piece you've wanted to buy for her Christmas — and have it for much less by buying it now.

There is a third reason why it will pay you to visit The Emerald Shop during August fur sales.

We believe we can help you have the fur piece you want, can be bought from the people you know locally, as moderately as elsewhere and through reasonable, lay away terms, if you like.

We are anxious to show you how you can have the fur you want, the way you can afford it.

Visit with us during our AUGUST FUR SALES.

Mr. Dan Senne of The Emerald Shop has spent over 20 years as an accredited furrier, fur buyer, and fur stylist. He can help you make your dreams into realities, moderately.

½-Days for 1st Graders At 2 Schools

The scheduling of double sessions in the first grades at Ridge and Dryden schools and the continuation of triple sessions in all kindergartens was announced Monday by R. E. Clabaugh, Arlington Heights school superintendent.

School officials have been aware of the enrollment problems in both Ridge and Dryden schools for some time.

THE DISTRICT will use 24 new classrooms in September. This will relieve the double sessions of last year. It was hoped that none would be necessary this year. However, last year's kindergarten enrollment increased sharply and has resulted in this year's large first grades, Clabaugh noted.

Kindergarten sessions begin at 8:30 a.m., 11:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Each is 2 hours in length.

First grade double sessions will begin at 8:15 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Each session lasts 4 hours.

Prospect Frosh To Carry Lunch Bags For 6 Weeks

Prospect high school students and teachers will be inconvenienced by unfinished construction when school starts September 3.

This comes as no surprise, however, since it was understood when the building was started last July that the entire building would not be completed in September 1957.

The cafeteria will not be completed until approximately October 15; therefore, it will be necessary for students and staff members to carry lunches until a hot lunch program is available. Cafeteria tables will be set up in study halls and classrooms which will not be in use for those purposes. Students should bring their lunches beginning with the first day of school. Milk and ice cream will be sold during the lunch periods.

THE SHOWER and locker room area also will not be ready for the opening of school. Since the construction of this area requires the services of many trades, it is not expected to be completed until some time in November.

Lack of showers and of good sod on the playground will require a modified type of physical education and health education program for both boys and girls. Physical education rooms will be completed in September.

Although the Little Theater and music department will not be completed by September, the school will have an extensive extra-curricular program. Rooms will be provided in the academic area for the speech and music programs.

Freshmen out for football or cross-country will be transported to Arlington high school for practice. An athletic bus will leave Arlington at 6:10 following practice.

The home economics, art, and shop rooms will be completed by September 1, but may not have the equipment installed during the first week of school. The corridor at the east end of the circular part of the building will be blocked and entrance to the shop and physical education area will be from the outside.

Vandalism, Theft Big Problems for Builders

by BOB BUCHANAN

Northwest suburban contractors estimate they lose more than $5,000 a month to vandalism and theft.

Vandalism has cost local contractors more since they must clean up the mess, whether it's paint or tar, and then replace damaged materials.

One builder, F & S Construction co., reports that in Hoffman Estates, vandalism is the worst it has seen in any of the firm's projects. Theft was exceeded only in a Salt Lake City project.

ROBERT ROSSNER, vice president in charge of construction, estimated his firm's losses at $2,000 a month for the last 2 months.

An Arlington Heights contractor said he was having a "light year" and his losses were only $300 a month.

A Wheeling builder had approximately $1,000 in equipment lfited from his construction lots in the last year.

CONDITIONS ARE now so bad that larger contractors employ watchmen around the clock. Hoffman Estates has 3 full-time watchmen but with 60 acres to patrol they are finding it difficult to catch the culprits. Centex, builders of Elk Grove village, laid claim to their negligable loss due to watchmen.

Vandalism and theft problems can be put in more or less of a pattern based upon size of the project and the close proximity of residences to new construction.

ON LARGE PROJECTS where homes are within walking distances, vandalism sems greater. The types of acts committed indicate they are children, some of whom range in age from 6 years up. Where there are large projects but no homes close by, vandalism is almost nil.

Where there are only a few homes under construction in a populated area, neighbors keep away the vandals. Builders report that when they begin construction in an area, vandalism is high but as home owners move in vandalism decreases.

Of all vandalism pranks, window breakage is the major problem. It is nearly impossible to determine the loss over the entire suburbs, but individual pane replacement costs run from $4 for an average window to $150 or more for a picture window.

A WHEELING contractor, Drake brothers, reported the windows in one home have been broken 3 times. Rosser said last week he signed a check for $249 to replace broken windows in 15 homes in just one block.

More vicious acts have been the pouring of tar over a fireplace in a home being constructed in Stonegate. H. R. Jacobsen, Inc., of Arlington Heights said they were able to get the tar off but it still left the stone discolored, costing $350 to replace.

The ingenuity of vandals apparently knows no bounds. They delight in tossing paint about new houses. Rossner told of one house which had $50 worth of paint tossed throughout a Hoffman home. Paint is now stored in the garages and according to one official, "You should see the beautifully colored garage floors."

VANDALISM sometimes turns toward profit. Rossner pointed out. At least 50 thermostats have been torn off the walls and the mercury confiscated for sale.

Drake bros. reported that 2 power saws, a power cement finisher, sump pump and water pump have vanished. At Hoffman a furnace, believe it or not, and a water heater have been lifted from homes. As one contractor put it, "The more brazen the thiefs are, the more likely they are to get away with it."

THESE LOSSES nearly always are written off by contractors. They hardly ever put in a claim on insurance. One builder remarked, "We don't put in claims for thefts and vandalism. If we put in every one, there would soon be so many that insurance companies would cancel us out. Then we'd be without liability insurance and that's the major item."

Another contractor remarked, "The insurance doesn't bother me that much. What makes me worry is that some kid is going to get killed or seriously injured while carrying out his pranks. Then parents will realize that a construction project is not a playground for their children." (B8

Exhibits Tell Phone Story

Young children in the 6 to 10 year old bracket should be interested in the newest exhibit at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry.

Utilizing Mother Goose and Disney-type characters to put over a serious message, the exhibit attempts to familiarize little folks with what makes their home telephones work and how to use the telephone in a real emergency.

Illinois Bell Telephone and other Bell System companies are sponsoring the exhibit, which bears the catchy title "Telefun Town."

Awaiting the youngsters is a main entrance house where a large size "Dolly Phone" mannikin acts as the hostess; a "Small Folks" movie house; and 4 other major units that border the main streets of the town. Each of these units is designed to teach the youngsters a different lesson in wired communication. (B7

Judge Separates Teenage Couple Married 'Illegally'

(CNS) — Superior Judge Samuel B. Epstein has separated a Des Plaines couple until the validity of their "child marriage" can be determined within the next 6 days. The bride was 14 last week.

Judge Epstein has turned Mrs. Jane Ruth Gehrke ,14, over to her aunt, Mrs. Ruth Van den Bosch, of Antioch, until a hearing on a marriage annulment suit, filed in Circuit court by the girl's mother, can be heard.

AN INJUNCTION was issued Tuesday against the young Mrs. Gehrke, and her husband, Carl, 18, of 1652 Cora st., Des Plaines, forbidding them "from having any sex relations and from being in the company of each other without the presence of an adult person." The injunction also restrains Carl from helping his wife leave the jurisdiction of the court.

Attorney Edward Bluthardt asked that a restriction be placed on the number of visits, but Judge Epstein refused. Bluthardt said he did not want Jane to see Carl, "as she would then be able to realize what a mistake she had made in getting married at such an early age."

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder," countered Attorney Thomas C. Bradley, representing the young couple, and Carl's parents, Art and Flossie.

JUDGE EPSTEIN asked Carl's parents, and Jane's parents, Walter and Roberta Kanzler, 1669 Cora st., Des Plaines, to "see if you can establish a friendly family relationship so you can guide these children."

Bluthardt in a writ of habeas corpus suit, filed on behalf of the Kanzlers, contended Illinois should not be held by the July 23 wedding of the young couple in Mississippi. The marriage certificate obtained by the couple in Hernando, showed the couple had given their ages as 18 and 21.

Bluthardt contends the couple married in Mississippi to get away from the Illinois Marriage Act which not only requires parents consent to marry at 16 and 18, but also a blood test.

"This marriage is void," Bluthardt said. "It was obtained through fraud, and is contrary to Illinois law. In Illinois a male under 18 and girl under 16 can not marry even with parents consent. You've got to draw a line somewhere. If you are to permit a 13 year old child to marry — heaven forbid."

BRADLEY, who did not believe the marriage was a wise thing either, believed it should be acknowledged as they have complied with Mississippi laws, in that they have lived together as man and wife, and Carl has been self supporting for the last several years.

Carl has been "dating" Jane for 11 months before they married, Bradley said. "Their marriage was not a hasty thing," Bradley added, explaining that the couple had discussed marriage 6 months before they went to Mississippi.

Both attorneys cited cases substantiating their views on the pros and cons of "child marriages" in Illinois.

AFTER HEARING the cases, Judge Epstein said he would take Jane from Carl. "I'm not going to permit a girl to live in such an open relationship," the judge said. "I would not be doing my job as a judge if I permitted this marriage to continue. They have flaunted the laws of Illinois.'

"It is hard to turn the pages back and tell her to be a little girl again," Bradley said.

"She is a little girl till she is 16," Judge Epstein answered.

The Judge said 'I am not anxious to take the girl away, but I will welcome any attempt to separate the couple till the validity of the marriage can be settled."

The attorneys and members of both families asked the judge to help them settle the problem. In a closed hearing in the judges chamber, the families decided to turn Jane over to her aunt, until the annulment suit could be heard in Circuit court. (B12

Do not confuse "formerly" (previously) with "formally" (in a formal or conventional manner).

Do not say, "A period of six months have elapsed." Say, "Has elapsed." "Period," and not "months," is the subject.

Northwestern U. Colors Chosen for 1958 Licenses

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier announced today that the contract for production of 1958 motor vehicle license plates has been awarded to Hemp and co. of Macomb, manufacturers of Illinois plates since 1936, with the exception of the period from 1943 to 1948 when fibre plates were used due to the shortage of steel.

The award was based on a low bid of 27.4 cents per set of passenger plates. All of the 1958 plates will be made of a lightweight steel, eliminating the approximate 1,500,000 sets of plates made of aluminum in recent years.

ACCORDING TO Carpentier this will save the state approximately $150,000 during the next biennium. Last year, aluminum sets of plates cost the state 33.7 cents. At present postal rates, the new plates can continue to be mailed for 8 cents per set.

The savings will be realized despite the fact that Hemp's bid, because of increased steel prices, was 2.9 cents higher than last year.

The 1958 plates will feature purple numerals on a white background as a tribute to Northwestern university. (B12

Sidewalk Issue Pops Up Again

Arlington Heights' controversy over installation of sidewalks flared up again this week. The action of the village board to require the walks near 3 southside schools was attacked by R. G. Schmidt, 616 S. Highland, in this letter to Mayor Carlisle:

"The recent action of the Arlington Heights village board to enforce the installation of additional walkways on S. Mitchell, Chestnut and Highland Streets appears to be based on decisions reached without giving the matter any investigation or much thought. I am definitely not opposed to the installation of walks, where needed. I am opposed to the arbitrary manner in which this area was selected as being the most vulnerable and only spot in the village requiring such action. I am confident the property owners, wherever affected, would have cooperated completely with the board, providing the decision had been based on the results of having intelligently analyzed the problem instead of employing the tactics used.

"Although the issue has been discussed with your group on numerous occasions, there are certain questions which never have been answered satisfactorily.

1. Why was the village manager instructed to notify certain residents to install walkways by July 15 or the village would do so when there was no ordinance in affect at the time legally requiring said walkways?

2. Why did certain members of the board deny all knowledge of the existence of this letter issued by the village manager, when subsequently we were informed that Mr. Buechner was acting on instructions from the board?

3. WHY WERE such conflicting statements issued by various members of the board, first, to the effect that the letter issued by Mr. Buechner was merely intended as a survey to determine the feelings of the people, then that the area involved was the first step in establishing walks throughout the Village, and later that only the areas adjacent to schools would be affected and, finally, it develops that the area adjacent to the South, Park and Our Lady of the Wayside schools was the only one under consideration and involved?

4. One member of the board stated he was solely responsible for the selection of this area as being first to enforce the installation of walkways. He further stated that no survey had been made to determine the need, but that the village had to start somewhere and it was his personal feeling that this was the logical spot to do so. In effect, the board is accepting this one man's opinion as sufficient evidence to support their claims instead of actually surveying the area to determine the need.

5. The Board stated that to provide an adequate measure to safety, walkways are to be installed on the north and south bound streets in question extending 2 blocks in each direction from the schools. Why are not the east and west streets in this same area considered hazardous? There are cases here where there are no walks on either side.

6. Why does this safety problem exist onl yat this school area and not others?

7. WHY DID THE board not choose to negotiate with the residents of this area, regarding the installation of walkways, similar to negotiations supposedly going on for the other school areas?

8. If a walkway on one side of the street is considered sufficient in the vicinity of other schools, why is it not considered safe in this area?

9. Why does the board continue to ignore the petition filed by 100 per cent of the residents of the 600 block on S. Highland ave. objecting to the installation of a walkway on the west side of this block? Walks now exist on the east and west side of the 500 block approaching the school. A walkway also exists on the east side of the 600, 700 and 800 blocks on Highland. Surveys made in the 600 block indicate that the amount of traffic using this walk does not warrant the need of an additional walk on the west side. In addition, although many residents from S. Chestnut, S. Mitchell and S. Walnut Streets proclaimed the need of additional walks serving their needs to the schoolyards, not one reference was made to the need of an additional walk on Highland."

Teenagers 'Wonderful Help' At St. Peter Bible School

St. Peter church in Arlington Heights closes a successful 12-week vacation Bible school Friday, and the VBS teachers give much credit for the success to their young teen-age helpers.

"Too much criticism is aimed at our young people these days," remarked Mrs. Leonard Reckwerdt, head of the VBS beginners department, "and I think we ought to give them a pat on the back once in a while." The other department heads agreed that the young volunteers had proven their willingness and ability to assist the teachers with VSB lessons.

Several teen-agers, including Mrs. Reckwerdt's daughter, Melanie, were Bible school teachers themselves. In the same department were the Misses Lynn Weber and Lois Schmidt as teachers. Under Mrs. Fred Gieseke's supervision were the Misses Karen Kastning, Diana Schroeder and Judy Greenacre.

Possibly the biggest service provided by the young helpers was assisting the teachers with handicraft lessons and in moving the children from one activity to another. They also taught Bible songs, ushered, took registrations and served snacks to the children. "Not to be overlooked is the fine Christian example these teen-agers showed to their younger brothers and sisters in the church. They consistently demonstrated exemplary Christian leadership and cooperation with their adult leaders. They proved again that teenagers today can be fine young citizens, when given the opportunity to develop their talents and abilities along constructive lines," commented the leaders.

The St. Peter VBS staff is grateful to these youngsters, and recognize the following for their help: The Misses Pam Reckwerdt, Pat Scharringhausen, Dawn Bozee, Betsy Schulte, Darlene Yahnke, Pat Themer, Virginia Soorus, Barbara Brown, Barbara Westphal, Marcia Ann Mueller, Carol Cope, Lynn Wright, Karen Lenz; Messrs. Michael Ruhnow, Ronald Reese and Paul Leonhardt. (A

Retail Sales in Palatine, Mt. Prospect Down in May

(CNS) —Des Plaines moved closer to Elgin in the race for third place among north and northwest suburban shopping areas during May than ever before, according to figures on the collection of local sales taxes by the estate revenue department.

Des Plaines collected $20,932 in May, only $6,527 less than the $27,459 of Elgin. Previously the narrowest margin was $10,887 in February, when Des Plaines collected $13,278. During April, Des Plaines collected $16,733, which was $12,195 less than Elgin.

SKOKIE PASSED Elgin for second place last January, and kept a safe lead in May, with $31,596. Evanston also kept its lead in first, with $44,537.

Meanwhile another near northwest suburb moved to a new high of 10th place from 14th in April. Norridge reported $8,519 in May compared to $5,623 in April. Its previous top was 13th in December, with $6,726.

Displaced by Norridge were Lincolnwood, 11th with $7,796, and Niles, 13th with $6,339. Winnetka has no local tax but stood 12th in April on state 2.5 pct. tax figures.

Harwood Heights, however, dropped from 26th to 30th, with $852 from $1,155.

TWO NORTH suburbs moved up while 3 northwest towns which are farther out dropped. Glenview was 14th with $6,068, from 15th in April, while Morton Grove was 16th with $5,149 from 19th. On the other hand, Barrington was 15th, with $5,679, from 12th in April; Mt. Prospect 17th with $4,890 from 16th; and Palatine 19th, with $4,083, from 17th.

• No changes in position occurred for Wilmette, sixth with $12,106 from $12,194 in April; Park Ridge, seventh with $9,973 from $11,771; Arlington Heights, eighth with $9772 from $10,992 and Franklin Park, ninth with $8525 from $9212 (BB

Navy Steel Band Plays Sunday

The picturesque Trinidad steel drum band recently organized by Rear Admiral Daniel V. Gallery at the Navy's 10th District base at San Juan, Puerto Rico, now in Chicago for the music festival at Soldier field, will give a special public concert at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Admission to the Museum and the concert is free.

DIRECTED BY Chief Petty Officer A. C. Roeper, the band which was converted from the base's regular Navy band, has imitated the West Indian natives in using empty 55 gallon gasoline drums and beating with their hands on the drum heads to produce a full scale of musical notes.

By filling the various drums with differing contents of water, the tones produced can be made to differ in sharp degree.

According to Admiral Gallery, who will accompany it to the Museum, his first American steel drum band has taken to the new West Indian musical novelty like natives and has "literally knocked Puerto Rico for a loop" in its original public appearances there. (B-7

Nostalgic? It's Really Bad Air

That nostalgic odor of burning autumn leaves soon to fill the air will be more than the dying of a lovely flame. It will be air pollution at its worst.

The backyard and gutter leaf fires will add tons of aldehydes, organic acids, hydrocarbons, and unburned leaf fragments to the fall dustfall, according to Samuel Radner, research chemical engineer at Armour Research foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology.

MANY CITIZENS who blame all air pollution on Chicago's smoke stack jungle are adding a great deal to the problem themselves by not burning leaves properly, Radner said.

A few simple precautions should improve dustfall readings, as well as the neighbor's disposition, he added.

Here are his suggestions:

Make sure leaves are dry, since they will burn more readily and give off less smoke.

LIGHT THE LEAF pile near the top and on the side sheltered from the wind — providing a slow, steady, and complete burning back toward the wind. (If the flame licks over the pile, the burning rate becomes too fast for the air supply and smoke results.)

Don't rake fresh leaves onto a burning pile, smothering the flames and creating a heavy smudge and bad odor. Rake them onto the windward side of the pile.

Burn the leaves when you have plenty of time to tend the fire — to see that it burns properly and that it doesn't jump to dry lawns and bushes. (B12

Q. Who goes first down the aisle of a motion picture theater, the man or the woman?

A. The woman precedes. And unless she is with her husband, finance or someone she knows real well, she should turn to him and ask, "Is this all right?" This gives him a chance — should he be near or farsighted, to suggest a seat that is closer or farther away.

Q. How soon after receiving an invitation to a large dinner party should one send one's acceptance or regrets?

A. Immediately. Nothing is more inconsiderate or ill-bred than to keep a hostess waiting for a reply, since she must have time to invite substitute guests.

Parent-Teacher Conferences Establish Good Relationship

by ROBERT CAMPBELL

(Second in a Series)

Last week we reviewed the job of principals in the public elementary schools in getting ready for school. Parents and children were told that they could expect to hear from the school during the last week in August regarding assignments to classes and, most important, their teacher's name.

Newcomers to the community were urged to come to the schools during the morning hours to complete registration.

THIS WEEK we promised to tell you about the conference between parents and teachers before the opening of school.

In teaching young children, the schools know from many experiences that parents and teachers must work together. Learning often is hindered greatly by small fears. These fears usually are very unnecessary and grow out of lack of information about what to expect at school. For this reason, the school feels strongly that a friendly meeting between the teacher and parent before the child comes to school is important to establish good working relationships.

In this conference, the teacher explains the routines of school life and the school's program for her particular grade level.

SOME OF THE routine includes the payment of book rental fees. This relieves the children of having to carry several dollars to school and getting it to his teacher without losing it. The accident insurance offered throughout the school is explained. Bus schedules and problems are solved and rules concerning noon hour and lunch programs are reviewed. Supplies which the child will need are listed for the parent and the school hours are discussed.

Probably most important, however, is the opportunity the parent has to inform the teacher about his child. Often a parent can prepare the teacher for a child's idiosyncrasies, and this relieves much tension and strain. A knowledge of a child's background from the parent's point of view provides the teacher with understanding with which to plan a good school life for the child.

SCHEDULE of conferences for parents of kindergarten, first and second grade children has been prepared and is considerably different from previous years. Kindergarten parents are asked to bring their children and come to their respective schools according to the following schedule:

Thursday, August 29, between 9 and 10 a.m., A through B; between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m., C through E; between 1 and 2 p.m., Fthru H; between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m., I through L.

Tuesday, September 3, between 9 and 10 a.m., M through O; between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m., P through R; between 1 and 2 p.m., S only; between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m., T through Z.

First and second grade parents need not bring their children but are asked to meet their teacher according to the following schedule:

Tuesday, September 3, between 9 and 10 a.m., A through E; between 10:30 and 11:30 a.m., F through L; between 1 and 2 p.m., M through R; between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m., T through Z. (A

August Garden Club Meeting To Feature Lawn Specialist

E. F. Johnson, noted authority on grass, will talk on a topic of top interest to homeowners this fall, at the Arlington Heights Garden club meeting in the new field house Monday evening, Aug. 26. His topic is "Care of Lawns," on which he can speak with authority and from an abundant experience.

Johnson is greens keeper for the Park Ridge Country club. He formerly held a similar position with the Indian Hills Country club, and was in charge of athletic fields at Iowa State university for 14 years.

His talk will immediately follow a short business meeting and a demonstration of flower judging. It will be of particular interest to the man of the house and of much value.

A nominating committee will be selected to nominate officers and directors for the new term beginning in November. Refreshments will be served after the meeting with Mrs. Theodore Sunko, Mrs. Louis Brabec and Mrs. Edwin R. Tierney as hostesses for the evening. The public is invited and may call Mrs. L. H. Berthold at CL 3-5143 for reservations. (A

by Ed Landwehr — TV

A customer told us at LANDWEHR'S TV that she tuned-in a station more than a thousand miles away. "How come, I thought about 70 miles was the limit?" she asked.

It is true that TV has a very limited range. The sending tower sprays a signal in all directions to the horizon to a distance of about 70 miles and depending upon heights of antennas.

However, some of these signals go upward also and disappear into outer space. It is when these signals bounce back to earth that you receive these long distance pictures. They are called 'freak or ghost' signals and bounce back to earth because of weather conditions or the effects of sunspots on the earth's atmosphere. Sometimes a signal will bounce several times between earth and outer elements and reach great distances.

This happens unfrequently and cannot be controlled. It can spoil good reception for many hours. There is no damage caused by it. To be sure of getting to the bottom of any TV problem, phone CL 5-0700. We give continuous service and guarantee it.

Vacations and Excursions

A pleasant day was enjoyed by Therese and Dick Herdrich and daughters, Kathy, Pam and Lynn, 15 Yale ave., when they journeyed to Ogden Dunes, Ind., for a boating trip on Lake Michigan aboard the "boss's' cabin cruiser, moored at the Gary Boat club. Swimming was also on the agenda.

Fran and Harry Hebard and sons, Bard, Ricky and Bobby, 409 Reuter, spent 3 relaxing weeks at the summer home of Fran's family at Ridgeway, Ontario, Canada. This is close to the Hebards home town of Buffalo and they visited with relatives and old friends.

Two days with grandmother meant fun for Kathy and Karen Ballou, 1418 St. James, and their friend ,Kathy Wrobel, 1404 Fremont. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ballou of Rockford treated the girls to the Rockford zoo and Riverview park.

Lois and Gerald Brask, 104 S. Yale, and sons, Gerry, David and Kenneth, had a happy 2 weeks at grandmother's in Minneapolis. They swam, fished and enjoyed water skiing, and since this is the family's home town, were entertained by numerous high school and college friends.

Vacation this year was carefree for Caryl and Wayne Wickless, 1421 Miner, when grandparents took charge of Susan, Steven, Michael and Kathleen. The couple spent some time in the Ozarks, St. Louis and Springfield and visited relatives in Iowa.

Making the rounds and visiting family during a respite from government duties were Senator and Mrs. Hubert Sims and children, George and Mary Jessye, of Mer Rouge, La. His stopover here was at the home of his niece and family, Luanne and Tom Tierney, 101 Yale.

Fran and Bill Johnston, 1505 Euclid, entertained for several days Fran's brother, the Rev. Paul M. Weishar, curate of a parish in Fond du Lac, Wis.

Spending 10 days away from their 'gang" are Claire and Richard Shultz, Matron and Superintendent of the Berks County Boys' Home in Reading, Penna. Claire is the sister of your reporter's husband Dick Burkett, 1405 W. Euclid.

Births and Birthdays

Happy over the birth of their first baby are Shirley and Jack Twigg, 1409 St. James. He arrived August 9 in Resurrection hospital, weighed 8 pounds 13 ounces and is called Thomas Arthur. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sommer, Park Ridge, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Twigg, Arlington Heights.

A third child and first daughter arrived August 11 in St. Francis hospital for Audrey and Dick Heidenson, 1421 St. James. She has been named Janet Lynn and weighed 7 pounds 6 ounces. Brothers are Steve, 4, and Ray, 2½ months. Unfortunately, Dick was not on hand to welcome home his new daughter, being a patient himself in Veteran's hospital, under treatment for a back injury. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. Swanborg and Mrs. Rosella Heidenson of Chicago.

Debbie Tierney, daughter of Luanne and Tom Tierney, 101 Yale, turned 2 Saturday. On hand to help celebrate were Beth Meyers, Kathy, Pam and Lynn Herdrich, Jackie and Jay Schmitz, Glenn and David Willens and Susan Nystrom. Sunday relatives dinner.

The Mayhercy family moved into their new home at 230 S. Reuter last Thursday and by Friday evening had become acquainted with scores of new neighbors. This is a unique but not enviable record in that it accompanied a terrible experience. Son James, 6, wandered off to play after lunch and hadn't returned by nightfall. Details are elsewhere in this issue. Shirley and Robert Mayhercy and children, Joan, 9, James, 6, and Jonathan, 4, moved here from Jefferson Park, where they attended the Jefferson Park Congregational church. Bob is stationed with the army in Arlington Heights. As a hobby, he enjoys operating a ham radio and miniature railroad. (A

Cousin Here From Canada

Arnie and Johnny Koriath, sons of the Arnold Koriaths, have been entertaining their cousin, Carolyn Hummel, of Port Credit, Ontario, Canada. She was here for a week, going swimming and visiting another cousin, Nancy Hummel. Carolyn, 11, had the thrill of flying to Chicago, where she was met by her grandparents. She enjoyed her visit and is looking forward to the time when she can come back.

The Roy Winkelmans are back from their vacation and are talking like the Colorado chamber of commerce. They went to Colorado Springs and the Paradise Dude ranch, and were gone for a week. The weather, scenery, food and the ranch itself, were perfect. DeLynn had her favorite pony, which she rode every day, and enjoyed the kindergarten conducted for children of the guests. The Winkelmans took many rides in the mountains. Every day was planned, and each ride took them to a different canyon or trail. They saw their first rodeo and had their first fish fry in the mountains. And, as Shirley says, "You haven't lived until you have eaten fish fried right after it has been caught in those mountain streams."

Anniversary Dance

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Miller celebrated their 16th wedding anniversary Friday with a dance in their garage. Invited were Mrs. Ellen Hoods, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Neumann, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Lalor, the Richard Balkins, the Melbert Andersons, the Robert Helfers, Gerald Carter, all of Arlington Heights, the Walter Weggs from Chicago, the Roy Murphys from Geneva and the William Wests of Palatine. They decorated the garage with lighted Japanese lanterns and strung Christmas tree lights along the breezeway. For music, they played the hi-fi, which was almost like the Arlington Heights Aragon mentioned in their invitations. Besides having a wonderful time at their party, the Millers also received some lovely gifts from their friends.

Friends and neighbors of the Al Snaps wish to extend their sympathy upon the death of his father in Freeport.

District Barbecue

For all cub scouts, boy scouts and explorer scouts in this area, there will be an annual Blackhawk district commissioners' barbecue Sunday, Sept. 8, from 1 to 7:30 p.m. Parents are invited too. It will be held at Elk Grove forest preserve (Busse Woods): First left turn from Higgins (rte. 72) west of Arlington Heights rd. to extreme south end of area 6. Scouts will be contacted soon. The program for the coming year will be presented. Besides exhibits by units, there will be games and stunts for the children and plenty of refreshments.

The Glenn Buckleys have just returned from a vacation to the upper peninsula in Michigan. Their trip included a stop over at Mackinac island, Sault Ste. Marie and Copper Harbor. Mrs. Buckley's mother, Mrs. Ellen Marquiss, who lives with them, has just returned from a 3-week vacation to the west coast. She visited relatives in Los Angeles and stopped at the Aragon ballroom, where she danced with Lawrence Welk.

The C. W. Burens celebrated his birthday over the weekend by going to the Wagon Wheel for dinner and then to Delavan, Wis., to visit his mother, Mrs. F. H. Buren.

Parents of a Son

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Buechner are happy to announce the birth of a new son, Robert Carl Jr., in Sherman hospital, Elgin. Robert, who was born August 13 weighed 8 pounds 2 ounces. He came home to a sister, Roberta, and a brother, Michael.

Cover Eastern Seaboard

Dolly Durgom took Judy, Sandy and Jane Ellen on a 4300-mile vacation that just about covered the entire eastern seaboard. Their first stop was Niagara Falls, where they rented a car and drove far up into Canada. From there they went to Maine and then to Boston, where they were guests of her sister. While in Boston, they saw the historical spots of interest and enjoyed barbecues and lunches given for them by friends and relatives. Leaving Boston, they went to Newington, Conn., where they visited Mrs. Connecticut of 1956. They went to Asbury Park, N.J., where the girls went on the boardwalk and also went swimming in the Atlantic. In New York they were entertained royally by the Jackie Gleasan Enterprises, who planned the week for them, including such TV programs as I've Got a Secret, The Big Payoff, and the Vic Damone show. Their sightseeing trip also included going on the famous Mayflower, visiting the Pilgrim village on the Hudson river, Radio City Music hall, a 4-hour tour of the United Nations and an excursion down the Hudson river. After the excitement of New York City, they went to Point Pleasant, N.J., to visit friends and spent 3 days swimming, sailing and crabbing. John couldn't wait any longer and came for them there, and they all drove home together.

The Erik Dedrings are back from a 2-week vacation that took them East, too. They stopped at Elmira, N. Y., where they visited friends, and then drove to New York City to see the sights. On the way back they visited cousins at Niagara Falls and then headed home.

Housewarming

Saturday night the William Logues helped give a housewarming for her brother and his wife, the Bernard Kellys, who have just moved into a new home in Batavia. To quote Mrs. Logue: "With all the Kellys, Quinns, Nickels and Logues there, they gave the house such a housewarming they nearly burned it to the ground.

Peggy Ann Walls' third birthday was August 15, but they celebrated Saturday with a party. Guests were Susie Wojtkiewicz, Patti Wayman, Terry Schmidt, Lee and Corky Mirs, Mary Anne Logue and her brother, Billy, and, of course, Peggy's brother, Tommy. With the excitement of the games they played and the refreshments, Peggy had such a good time, she decided she'd like to do that every day.

Flag is Out

They are hanging out the flag at Frank Widbins, announcing the birth, Monday, of Deborah Ruth in West Suburban hospital, Oak Park, weighing 8 pounds 1 ounce. The baby has a brother, Mark, who is 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jersogne, 825 N. Ridge, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schinkowsky of Rolling Meadows, spent last week visiting Mr. Jesogne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jersogne, at Green Bay. The Jersogne children, Jimmy, Guy, Diana May and Debbie, remained at home. (A

Indoor Ice Rink Rezoning Denied By County Board

(CNS)—The county board, honoring Park Ridge objections, has denied rezoning for a proposed indoor ice skating rink across the street from Maine township high school.

Commissioner Fred Fulle sparked the board's unanimous vote, saying that Park Ridge had not been notified of the case when it was up for public hearing before the county zoning board. The zoners had recommended approval.

THE APPLICANTS, both Chicagoans, were Adolph J. Wolski, 5110 W. Roscoe, and Ildephonse B. Markiewicz, 2130 N. Hamlin.

Strong protests were voiced by the city of Park Ridge and 16 home owners in the Maine township school area led by Mrs. Robert Kazmer, 2480 Dempster, Des Plaines, at a special hearing in July before a county board committee.

The case involves a 4-acre tract on the north side of Dempster street, about a quarter mile east of Potter rd. in Maine township.

MARTIN R. HANDELMAN, attorney for the applicants, offered a covenant running with the land to prohibit sale of intoxicating liquors and tobacco in any form on the property.

Lucille Oberly, fourth ward alderman of Park Ridge, protested the rezoning, if approved, would open up Dempster street to other business uses in the high school's vicinity.

If this happened, there'd be little chance of stopping a liquor or tobacco store from going up next door, she said.

County records show the Maine township high school board had no objection to the year-round ice skating rink under terms of a covenant offered by Handelman.

The rink promoters were willing to offer Maine township and Notre Dame high school students free use of the facility for hockey and curling teams, Handelman said. (B8

It is estimated that nearly 6,000,000 American families are regular or occasional users of home movie equipment and that this number will be doubled in the next five years.

Use of home movie cameras has been increasing at an average rate of about 5 to 10 per cent annually but the rate of increase has been stepped up sharpy in the past few years. More leisure time resulting from the shorter work week, more money to spend as a result of higher incomes, the rising birth rate, the strong trend toward increased family activities and improved equipment that makes home movies easier and less expensive have all contributed to the amateur movie boom.

IN RECENT YEARS the sales volume of the photographic industry has been growing faster than the average for all industries.

The more compact and less expensive 8mm cameras have accounted for a major portion of the increase, in home movie equipment, sales having nearly doubled in the last 10 years.

Consumer motivation studies of the home movie market showed that 78 per cent of U. S. families would like to make their own movies and hope some day to own an outfit. However, only 10 per cent indicated an interest in becoming expert photographers; the other 90 per cent were primarily interested in economical and simple-to-use equipment that would enable them to make movies of their children, family events and vacations. This desire is met by the new automatic cameras.

AMERICA'S baby boom is providing the home movie industry with its biggest sales stimulant. Since 1946 the number of babies born in the U. S. has averaged more than 3 ¾ million annually. In the last 3 years the number has been more than 4,000,000 — a baby every 8 seconds. This means that there are between 35 and 40 million children under 10 years of age in this country and children are the amateur movie maker's favorite subject.

Dealers say that more first cameras are bought to take pictures of small children than for any other purpose. A survey of film processors showed that 63.9 per cent of all the films sent to them for finishing are pictures of children under 3 years old. Films of older children add another sizeable percentage to the total.

FILMS OF VACATION trips and outings are next to pictures of the small fry in popularity. It is estimated that nearly 45,000,000 people will have vacations of 2 weeks or more in 1957 and that vacation travel will reach an all-time peak. Since a majority of vacationers take a camera with them, the movie camera industry looks for the summer months to show a substantial increase in photo equipment sales that will help swell the year's total to a new high.

Eight out of 10 of the home movie cameras presently in use are 8mm size and 95 per cent of all amateur movies are shot on color film. These figures are supported by survey of readers made by Parents Magazine. The survey also showed that movie camera ownership among young parents is higher than for the population as a whole, averaging one in 5; that the average family spends about $25 per year on film.

THE COST of making 8mm color movies is no higher than black and white snapshots. Based on a cost of approximately $4 for a 50-foot roll of 8 mm color film, which includes the cost of processing, a typical 8-second movie shot (about 1 and 2/3 feet) costs only 13 cents. Black and white snapshots in the popular 116 size cost about 15 cents each when the cost of the print (about 8 cents each) is added to the cost of the film (56 cents for 8 exposures or 7 cents each).

In spite of the rapid expansion in amateur picture taking and particularly in home movies, the photographic industry is not primarily a luxury industry. Only 37 per cent of the output of the industry is used by amateurs. Business and industry, education, professional motion picture studios and the government take 63 per cent. (B12

Q. If one is in doubt as to whether an invitation can be accepted, how should the acknowledgment be worded?

A. You must state definitely whether or not you can accept the invitation. It is imperative always to reach a decision before answering.

Q. If one is offered a cigarette, and prefers to smoke one's own brand, is it rude to refuse the proferred cigarette?

A. No.

Q. At the home of a friend salad greens was passed with the recently, a large bowl of mixed the meat course. Since I don't like my salad mixed with my food, and there were no salad plates, I asked my hostess for a small plate. Was this all right?

A. No. This shows criticixm of the service. Instead of asking for the extra plate, you should have declined the salad.

Q. Should a woman thank a waiter in a restaurant when he holds her chair for her?

A. Although this is not necessary, there still is nothing wrong with it.

Q. Is it really considered good manners to use the handkerchief while at the dinner table?

"Good manners" really do not enter this situation so much as "necessity." When one absolutely has to use a handkerchief, one should try to do so as inconspiciously and quietly as possible.

Teen Marriage Muddle? It Couldn't Happen Here

(CNS) —How state marriage laws differ is spotlighted by a Des Plaines couple's lawsuit to annul their daughter's Mississippi wedding only weeks before she was 14 to an 18 year old boy-friend living across the street.

Could it happen here? No says County Clerk Edward J. Barrett whose office issues marriage licenses in Cook county.

In Illinois, men must be at least 21 and women 18 to marry.

However, males between 18 and 21 and females between 16 and 18 may obtain a license through sworn consent of a parent or legal guardian. And the sworn consent must be given in person before the county clerk.

Proof of age also is demanded here in marriages of young couples. A man 21 is old enough to vote and drink. But a little known fact is that if he wants to marry in Illinois he'll have to prove his age. This holds for all males between the ages of 18 and 22 and all females between 16 and 19.

Also in questionable cases, county clerks in Illinois may request proof of age.

IN ALL CASES a medical certificate showing the person is free from venereal disease must be presented. A marriage license may be issued one day after the medical examinations. But don't wait longer than 15 days otherwise another medical is necessary.

No waiting period is required once you have the license. However don't dally longer than 30 days — the valid period of a license — unless you want to pay another $5 fee.

The place to apply is Room 233 County Building, Clark and Washington sts., Chicago, from 9 a.m. to 5 p. m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS has a prominent place in the Bradley University football fact book which came out last week. Jim Summers, Arlington grad in 1956, is listed on the fall roster as a halfback, and Elliott "Bus" Ormsbee, head grid coach at AHS, is cited in the section devoted to outstanding performers of past Bradley football seasons.

Summers, a 6-0, 175 pound soph, carried the ball 4 times as a freshman and gained 18 yards, scoring 1 touchdown. In '55 Jim teamed with John Sujack, Arlington's first All-Stater, to give the Cardinals one of the most effective halfback combinations in many years. The duo combined for 141 carries and 787 yards rushing, an average of 5.6 yards per try, in leading the locals to an impressive campaign.

JIM SUMMERS

Ormsbee, a brilliant backfield performer at Bradley in the early '40's who later played professional football, was honored on 2 Little All-American grid teams. In 1941 he helped lead the Braves to an 8-1 record which saw the Peoria school yield more than 1 touchdown in only 1 contest. The most convincing win was a 67-0 decision over Arkansas A & M. In '42 the Braves slumped to 4-3-1 but had a 72-0 victory over the U. S. Army Depot. Ormsbee turned in another outstanding campaign and was selected for the second straight season on the Little All-American.

Two other Arlington products who made good in Bradley athletics were Gordo Busse in football and track and John Deininger in football. Maybe Summers will be next in line!

ANOTHER FOOTBALL SEASON is almost upon us so we thought we'd take time here to insert a few of our favorite stories about the gridiron sport. These are factual stories—or at least they were when we heard them!

Knute Rockne, who made football history at Notre Dame, used to have skull sessions with his players. He would propound a problem, and then suddenly, he would start popping questions at players to answer the grid riddle. On one occasion, he presented a problem and shot his familiar question: "What would YOU do?" at a third-string quarterback. The answer came back immediately: "Well, Mr. Rockne, I'd slide a few yards down the bench to get a better look at the next play!"

Then there's the story about former Illinois coach Bob Zuppke and a boy on his 1927 team named Bud Stewart. In one game player Stewart kept asking Zuppke when he was going to be sent into the game. Each time he asked, Zuppke would reply: "I'm saving you." When the fourth quarter was almost over, Stewart again asked the Coach if he could go in, and again Zuppke answered: "I'm saving you"!! Angrily, the player demanded: "Just what are you saving me for?" And Zuppke roared back: "Mr. Stewart, I'm saving you for the junior prom!"

Rockne was always noted for his brief halftime talks. Once, playing an important game, Notre Dame had a bad first half and trailed by 13 points. In the dressing room nobody said a word, not even Rockne. Then came a knock at the door and an official said, "Two minutes more, Mr. Rockne." Rockne stood up wearily, looked the players over, man for man, then he sighed, shrugged his shoulders to the door, snapping: "Ladies first!" By the way, the Irish won that game!

One Saturday afternoon Georgia Tech ran into a particularly tough opponent, and the proud Georgia Tech players were being humbled in cruel fashion. With but a few minutes to play, the Tech players went into a huddle. The quarterback called a play that would send the fullback over center. "Don't run that one," pleaded the weary fullback. "Last time we tried it, they almost twisted my neck off." "All right," snapped the quarterback, "We'll send the left half around right end." "Oh, no," begged the halfback, "The last time we tried that play their end nearly broke my leg." A couple other plays were quickly suggested with the same pleas from the players involved. "OK, boys, there's only one thing to do," the quarterback said. They threw a long incomplete forward pass!

PADDOCK GOLF TOURNAMENT is once again history, with a record number of leagues competing this time. The tourney is growing in popularity and interest, along with everything else in this area, and along with it were suggestions for merchandise prizes in addition to the medals. One thought was for the country clubs, where the leagues play and spend their money, to donate awards.

Another idea was for each league to assess each member at start of season a flat $1.00 apiece to build up a merchandise fund for the tournament. Possibly $600 could be accumulated this way.

Perhaps the league secretaries could get together, money in hand, about the middle of May, select a 2-man committee to purchase the items, decide on what basis the prizes would be awarded, and discuss other matters to improve the tournament, accomplishing the entire job in one session. Paddock sports department is contacting league secretaries this week asking them to venture opinions on this subject before the season ends.

Tourney competitor Carl Berlin is still carrying his second place medal from the Paddock Publications individual tournament in 1941, the award serving as good luck piece for 16 years, including wartime service.

Old Orchard Scratch league donated a special prize of a dozen golf balls for low team gross, with Kamps Signs, that league's entry, taking home the prize. Alternate Len Arnold, filling in for that team for vacationing Paul Ellingsten, is the first alternate to compete with a zero handicap. Len's actual handicap was .16 of a stroke.

WALT WESSMAN, of Wessman-Cunningham Sporting Goods in Arlington and Oak Park, has been named to Mayor Daly's Pan-American games committee for 1958 . . . The Notre Dame football team is going to give sports announcers a lot of trouble again this fall . . . Here are some of the players' last names: Ciesielski, Colosimo, Dujbasak, Ecuyer, Geremia, Meulhbauer, Nicolazzi, Odyniec, Pietroskate, Pietrzak, and Wetoska . . . Lars Henricksen, Fenton grad, has just received a football scholarship from the University of Illinois in addition to his scholarship from Milwaukee Road.

Coach Chuck Bennett of LaGrange lists Maine, Hinsdale, and Arlington in that order as the teams to beat in this fall's WSC football chase . . . Lions open their conference slate against Maine, Sept. 21, then meet Hinsdale the following Saturday . . . Nine lettermen are back for LaGrange with co-captains, Ed Meyer and Dave Wormley, heading the list.

Mrs. Hal Wright, 755 S. Belmont Lane, Arlington Heights, used only 10 putts, including eight one-putt greens, for the first 9 holes at Rolling Green on Ladies Day recently . . . She chalked up 17 on the back nine for a total of 27 putts for the 18 holes, a feat unsurpassed by any of the club members, men or women . . . For what it's worth department: Glen Gorbous, former Cincinnati and Philadelphia outfielder, set a world's record in Omaha, Aug. 1, when he threw a baseball 445 feet, ten inches . . . The Harlem Globetrotters may drop Paxton Lumpkin, former DuSable cage ace, this year . . . Quote from quarterback Len Dawson: "I didn't mind sitting out of the All-Star game so much, but after the first week they just had me standing around doing nothing. I was away from my family for three weeks and missed a valuable week of practice with the Steelers."

Prep Football Practice Opens Monday

AHS Candidates Draw Equipment On Saturday

Football equipment at Arlington high school will be issued Saturday, Aug. 24, for the sophomores and varsity and on Monday, Aug. 26, for the freshmen, athletic director Wally Grace announced this week.

The varsity will receive its equipment at 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday with the sophomores scheduled for 1-3 p.m. The freshmen will be issued equipment on Monday afternoon from 1-3 p.m.

Nine coaches comprise the 1957 Arlington grid staff, largest in the school's history. Five of the men are "rookies" in the local high school organization.

"BUS" ORMSBEE WILL again be head man for the varsity with Bob Scott handling the centers, guards, and tackles. Newcomers include Ted Wissen who will work with the junior-varsity team and also act in an assistant capacity to Ormsbee, and Maurice Ross who will coach the ends.

Bill Beckman will head the sophomore team with Bob Hoese as assistant. Charles Aldrich, a 1946 grad of Arlington high, will be in charge of the freshmen with Hal Henson and Rusty Dowell as assistants. Dowell will work with the plebe's "B" squad.

Arlington had a 3-5 mark last year with a 2-5 slate in the West Suburban Conference. The frosh-sophs had a 2-4-1 conference slate. Varsity gridders, Dan Vittum and Ashley Haase, both June graduates, were honored on the 1956 All-Conference team. (SP

The morning practices for the Arlington gridders will begin at 8:30 a.m. and run to 10 a.m. with the afternoon workouts slated for 4-6 p.m. This schedule will run until Aug. 31. All practices are at Arlington high school as grass is not ready at the new Prospect school. (Sp

Fenton Issues Grid Equipment

Equipment will be issued at Fenton high school for all football candidates following the physical examinations, Thursday and Friday, Aug. 22-23, from 9-12 noon. This includes the freshmen.

The examinations will begin promptly at 9 a.m. on each day and will be conducted by Dr. Hasbrouck. Coach Paul Henry is particularly eager to have all those who will participate examined at this time in order that training and practice schedules may begin the following wek.

ACCORDING TO a state law boys are not to be permitted to play or practice until a physical examination has been completed for each year. There are also a prescribed number of practice days required before a boy is permitted to play.

Since Monday, Aug. 26, is the first day on which practice is permitted, the coaching staff plans to have examinations and the distribution of equipment done prior to that time.

Henry is again head coach of the varsity with six assistants, duties to be delegated at a later date. The assistants include Glen VanProyen, Jim Monahan, Charles Cole, Howard Scott, and Gene Hoffman. (Sp

Wheeling Lumber Wins Paddock Golf Tourney

Three men shooting under their average enabled Wheeling Lumber to take the Paddock golf championship Sunday with a 353 performance for a 285 net. The lumbermen represented Friday night league at Arlington country club.

The champs included Bill Wilson, a 79-average man, shooting 75; Jim Cesario, a 92-average golfer, shooting 90; young Don Baeuchler, Maine high school golfer averaging 105, hit 95; and Ralph Shaffer, an 88-average man, shooting 93.

THE FOURSOME shot a net 285, just 1 stroke over par for Nordic Hills in the close tournament that wasn't decided until the 13th foursome came in 'midst wind, cold and rain. Baeuchler had carded a 49 the first 9, and neded no worse than a 50 on the longer second 9 to take the lead.

Don came in with a surprising 46 to move his team into the lead, 5 strokes ahead of Kamps Signs of Old Orchard Scratch league. Kamps' foursome had set its sights on a net 290, and made the grade, only to have the lumbermen and Safford Stamps move in below.

SAFFORD FOURSOME, representing one of the St. Raymond leagues, was ahead by 6 strikes the first 9. Jack Kilroy, a 91-average man, was in first with an 83. This gave him low individual net of 66. John Corbett came in with 94, just 1 stroke above his average.

Tom Cunningham, with a 96 average, came in with 95. All eyes were on that last foursome with Walt Bricker, a 107-average man, coming in. Walt carded 50 the front 9, and could help his mates into a tie for first with a 49 the second 9. He carded 53 for a 103 total, good enough for second place, just 1 stroke below Kamps Signs.

Complete results are listed elsewhere on these pages. (SP

Redwings Cop 3-2 Tilt, Host Oak Park Sunday

Dick Bokelmann hurled perfect baseball for 4 innings Sunday, then held on with a steady performance as Arlington's Redwings edged Chicago Heights, 3-2, at Recreation Park.

The locals' victory set their summer record in the Greater Chicago semi-pro baseball league at 8-6 with league-leading Skokie at 13-5. Skokie topped Oak Park Sunday, 8-4, and Kolski's edged the Chicago Vets, 3-2.

Sunday, Aug. 25, Arlington will host Oak Park in another league affair at 2:30 p.m. Bokelmann will work for the Redwings with Carl McCollum a likely starter for Oak Park. McCollum lettered 3 years at Indiana.

OAK PARK is paced by outfielder Bob Shoptaw, University of Illinois letterwinner for 3 years; outfielder and shortstop Larry Buchanan, who paced Maywood to the state legion title a year ago with a .500-plus average; and catcher Don Stange, a former Redwing.

Last Sunday Arlington initiated the scoring in the fourth with a double steal. Bill Liedholm was hit by a pitched ball leading off and he moved to third on 2 infield outs. Tony Esposito walked, then the pair worked a double theft for the first score on the game.

A TRIPLE by Esposito blossomed into the second run in the sixth after Chicago Heights had knotted the score in the fifth with a double and single, the 2-base blow being the first hit off Bokelmann.

A double play grounder off the bat of Bokelmann resulted in a costly Chicago Heights error and Arlington pushed over the deciding run. Lou Schairer, who collected 2 hits in 2 trips to the plate, tallied the winning run.

Chicago Heights used a triple and sacrifice fly to bring in the final run.

Jerry Colangelo, No. 1 hurler for Chicago Heights' state championship Jr. Legion team, faced 1 batter in relief. Colangelo is the boy on whom Chicago Heights is counting to bring them a possible national championship in Jr. Legion baseball for 1957. (Sp

THURSDAY, AUG. 22, 1957

AQUIET WEEK of sports activity for Aug. 22, 1947 is evident after looking over the sports page for that date. Rose-Lo's 2 straight victories over Hasemans for the Arlington softball title and the approaching North-South prep basketball game drew the most attention.

Rose-Lo took impressive 5-1 and 9-2 wins over the Palatine entry with Billy Becker starring on the mound for the champions. Wolfgram, Hertel, and B. Rudolph were the leaders on offense for the Rose-Lo unit.

Several outstanding prep basketball players were working out in preparation for the North-South prep cage game in Huff Gym, Aug. 22. Leaders on the North squad were Dave Allen (Waukegan), Jake Fendley (South Shore), Bud Grover (Dundee), Bato Govedarica (Lane Tech), Don Sunderlage (Elgin), Dick Brogren (E. Rockford), Don Schairer (Burlington), Marv Klein (Morton), and John Rennicke (E. Aurora).

Heading the South contingent, coached by Merrill "Duster" Thomas of Pinckneyville, were Ted Beach (Champaign), Don Williams (Pinckneyville), Bob Owens (Paris), Ken McBride (Centralia), Rex Sebastian (Robinson), Glenn Vietor (Paris, Don Ungerott (Collinsville), and Fred Major, Jr. (Champaign).

Arlington's Redwings dropped their first tournament game to Castle AC but still needed 1 more defeat before bowing out of tourney play. The next affair was against the Cicero Reds at Recreation Park.

The column "Mac Says" dealt with the start of the high school football practice sessions, and there was another story stating that J. E. Stutzman, athletic director at Palatine, had been spending a week at a special basketball coaching school at Logansport, Ind. Of course, of final interest on the page was the "Reg'Lar Fellers" cartoon which appeared weekly then.

2 Drills Daily For Palatine's Grid Squad

Football practice opens at Palatine high next Monday with 2-a-day drills on the program for the first 4 days. Coach Charles Feutz will start his fourth year as head coach with John Ellis and John Fabri as varsity assistants.

Claude Bailey and Don Wilkening will handle a talented sophomore squad which was undefeated as frosh, and Richard Gavigan and a new coach, Carl Van Cleave, will direct the freshmen.

Athletic director, J. E. Stutzman, who will have charge of giving out equipment, expects over 100 candidates to report for the 3 squads.

PALATINE HAS discarded the policy of carrying all candidates at the varsity level who practice regularly. Varsity candidates who cannot prove they are of value to the squad and of potential varsity playing caliber will be dropped this year. The freshman level will be the only point where the "no cut" rule will apply.

The Pirate varsity will include a good supply of lettermen from last year's team which tied for second place. Backfield prospect appears stronger than the line with 3 regular backs returning, including quarterback Dick Wisner. Much will depend on the line talent coming up to the varsity from last year's in-and-out sophomore team.

AS BOYS MUST practice 90 minutes on each of 14 different days before playing their first game, it is important that all be on hand at the opening of practice and appear every day.

The Pirates will be competing this season in the new Tri-County conference with North Chicago, Glenbrook, Fenton, Lake Park, and Elmwood Park. The season opens at home against Grayslake in a non-conference game and other non-league affairs will be at Crystal Lake and with Barrington and Palatine. Glenbrook, Lake Park, and Fenton will be home league opponents for a fine home schedule of 5 games. (SP

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

GRAYSLAKE'S JAY HOOK has signed with the Cincinnati Redlegs for a reported bonus of $65,000. Hook pitched Grayslake to the Northwest conference baseball championship 3 years ago and was second leading scorer in basketball. Next school year he will give up eligibility for baseball and basketball at Northwestern University for the big money of professional baseball. Hook helped pitch the Wildcats to the Big Ten title last spring with a 4-2 record and one victory in the NCAA playoffs. This summer he has had a phenomenal pitching record in semi-pro ball. Hook will be the second Northwest conference athlete in the major leagues. Billy Klaus of Grant has been with Boston several years and his brother Bob at Illinois may soon be the third if the majors continue to raid the college campuses.

JAY HOOK

Hook is the third Northwestern baseball player signed this summer as Chuck Lindstrom, son of the Wildcat coach Fred Lindstrom, was made White Sox property and Dave Hill, left handed pitcher, signed a bonus contract with Kansas City. Hook will continue his work in engineering for a degree at Northwestern.

A few years ago the major leagues had an arrangement with the NCAA whereby they followed a hands-off policy in recruiting college players. All that is changed and the bars are down for tempting the best college talent away to the play-for-pay system.

WHILE OUT IN IOWA recently we noticed an article in the Des Moines Register in which the state juvenile authorities were criticizing the state high school athletic association for a rule which made any boy ineligible to represent a high school while under arrest or probation for any criminal offense whether or not the act occurred at school. They claimed that juvenile delinquents whom civil authorities had trouble handling should be in school athletics to help reform them rather than eliminating them from teams when they got in trouble.

This attitude by police, welfare, and juvenile authorities disregards the fact that school athletic programs need to operate on high standards and operate for boys who have learned to obey, conform, respect property, and respect the rights of others.

Should the boy who conforms to the rules of society sit on the bench while the boy who disregards the athletic code plays in his place just to help the juvenile authorities try to get probation results? We don't think so. In our opinion it is a privilege and an honor to represent a school in athletics. When he goes into a game, it should indicate that he is approved by the school and student body as being a good type of young man as well as player. In our opinion athletics is for the 98% of boys who live up to the code of conduct for which sports stand.

In Illinois we have no rule about suspension from sports for misconduct and criminal acts. There is no need for a rule as we know of no school men who would allow a boy in trouble with the law to compete and represent the school until he has paid his debt to society or proved his reform through a probation period. An all-conference football player was eliminated from all sports in his senior year in a Northwest Conference school for being involved in stealing in the community.

In Palatine high boys have been denied membership on a school team and denied other kinds of school representation until they have cleared themselves, paid for their misdeeds or proved, by their actions over a period of time, that they were ready to be trusted and respected school citizens.

Of course in most cases such students are ineligible for athletics due to poor grades or are dropped from the squads for insubordination or lack of training. If sports were conducted on a no standard basis, they would soon pass out of existence as a school activity. It is our philosophy that we should, in school, do everything we can to help and train the 2% who are trouble makers and maladjusted but never at the expense of the 98% of fine young school citizens who attend our schools.

ALUMNI OF ELA-VERNON High School will have 3 athletes on the DeKalb College football squad this fall with Herb Ward, a transfer tackle from Illinois; Ron Soos, a transfer from Colorado; and Don Fenner, a quarterback transfer from Illinois. One of Ela's best football players, Chuck Gilman of Prairie View, will enroll at Lake Forest College. Gilman was an all-conference lineman as a junior but shifted to fullback as a senior.

Ronnie Madden of Grant High School's baseball team was the representative of the Northwest Conference earlier this summer in the Chicago American All-Suburban vs. All City high school stars. His fine play in that game warranted his selection along with Jack Mitchell of Mt. Carmel High to represent the Chicago area in the U. S. All-Stars vs. New York All-Stars held last Saturday night at the Polo Grounds. Madden is a small, speedy 17-year-old second baseman who was all-conference at that position and sparked Grant's basketball team as floor guard to the championship last winter. He has rejected professional baseball offers to enroll at Albion College in Michigan in September.

SAFFORD STAMP WORKS represented St. Raymond No. 2 league in the Paddock tournament Sunday, copping second place in the process with a 289 net. Seated are Jack Kilroy and Walter Bricker. Standing are sponsor Arthur Sturm, Tom Cunningham and John Corbett. Kilroy's 66 won individual net prize of a dozen golf balls, which he promptly divided with his teammates.

Boosters Collect 19 Hits in Aurora Rout, 3 Tuesday!

by BOB FRISK

Take a few hits from a barrage Saturday in Aurora, add them at key spots in Tuesday's contest, and Black's Boosters might have had a win over the highly touted Chicago Yankees.

As it turned out, the Yankees, who will play in the National amateur baseball tournament in Detroit this weekend, edged the locals, 2-1, in a contest cut short by darkness after 6 frames.

With about 2 weeks left in the summer campaign the Boosters face another important weekend series. Saturday, Arlington, now 18-15-1 for the season, will host the Aurora Tigers at 2 p. m. at Recreation Park and on Sunday will travel to Streator, Ill., for a 2:30 p. m. affair.

THERE WAS no resemblance between last Saturday's contest in Aurora and Tuesday's tight affair with the Yankees. The Boosters turned on their biggest offensive show of the season Saturday to crush an outmanned Aurora All-Steel Equipment Co. team, 23-4, collecting 19 hits and 5 extra base blows.

Bill Yates and Tony Sheer combined to check the Aurora outfit with 2 hits, 1 in the first and last frames, Yates worked the opening 6 segments and though bothered by control trouble, still managed to stay out of any immediate danger.

Of course, Yates and Sheer were backed by a prolific offensive attack, particularly in the late innings. The locals started out slowly, pushing over 3 runs in the first 5 innings, then exploded for 20 runs and 15 hits in the last 4 chances.

BOB GETTS had another 4-hit performance for Arlington and Dan Vittum, hitting safely in his 15th straight contest, Randy Thomas, Leo Behrens, Dave Lynk, and Yates had 2 safeties each. Getts, Vittum, and Behrens all had 3 runs batted in.

Yates fanned 6 in his 6 inning stint and walked 8, and Sheer had 4 strikeouts and a trio of walks in working the final 3 frames. Grant Hints and Kenny Fritch toiled for an Aurora team that committed 8 errors in the disastrous afternoon.

Tuesday the Boosters took an early lead on the Yankees when Bill Sprincz was safe on a 2 base error and came home on a bloop hit to right by Getts. That was the extent of the Arlington scoring though they put runners on base in each of the next 3 innings.

WITH 1 OUT in the Yankees' fourth trouble started. Dick Widmark, a letter winner at Northwestern, slapped a hit to center and moved to third on a lazy hit to right by Ken Walters. A slap down the third base line by pitcher Jim Bouton took a bad bounce past Larry Fischer and Chicago had its initial run, Widmark counting.

Shortstop and leadoff man Bobby Klaus, All Big Ten shortstop at Illinois, was given an intentional pass to load the bases, then Bob Miller, Arlington hurler, clipped Tom Riley on the foot to force in the deciding run.

Getts, Fischer, and Bob Dotts collected hits for the Boosters and Dotts turned in one of his finest performances behind the plate, picking 1 runner off first and missing 2 others by a whisker, and throwing out the only attempted steal. Vittum had his bat streak halted at 16.

Bouton, who hurled for Bloom this past spring and is heading for either Western Michigan or Northwestern, gained the win for the Yankees, fanning 5 in 6 innings. Miller also whiffed 5 in taking the loss.

Hole-in-One

Bill Wilson, Paddock Publications golf tournament competitor Sunday with the champion Wheeling Lumber team, scored a hole-in-one the week before at Lake Geneva country club.

Bill's ace was tallied on the 140-yard 16th, making the grade with a 9 iron. Playing with him was a Wisconsite who had made the hole-in-one on that course several years ago on the identical hole of Bill's feat.

Wilson is a 75-80 golfer. (SP

Parseghian Must Develop Quarterback for Wildcats

When Coach Ara Parseghian assembles Northwestern's football squad for the opening of practice, Sept. 1 he will waste no time in concentrating on what he considers his No. 1 problem——development of a quarterback.

Parseghian who led the Wildcats to a sixth place finish in the Big Ten with a 3-3-1 record last year, will be able to field lettermen at every position this fall except at quarterback.

Graduation took both of last year's signal callers, Dale Pienta and Jack Ellis, leaving the position entirely bereft of upperclassmen. All 4 quarterbacks listed on the roster are sophomores, and from this quartet will come the 1957 field general.

FORTUNATELY FOR the Wildcats, several of these newcomers turned in sparkling performances in spring practice and appear capable of doing the job, once they have gained game experience.

The quarterback contingent consists of Chip Holcomb who prepped at West Lafayette (Ind.) but now resides in Evanston; John Talley of Delaware, O.; Bert Fredrick of Sycamoro, and Dave Chris of Akron, O.

Both Holcomb and Talley came up with first rate passing performances last spring and will probably share much of the offensive quarterback duties at the season's start. Fredrick who was held back by back injuries in spring practice, excels on defense.

ALL THREE leading quarterback candidates have good height. Holcomb is the tallest at 6 feet 2 inches while Fredrick is 6-1 and Talley 6 feet even. Talley is the heaviest of the trio at 184.

In addition to starring in football in high school, all three were standouts in basketball, but only Fredrick participated in both sports as a freshman last year. He won freshman numerals in both football and basketball.

1933 Redwings Won 18, Play House of David

by BOB FRISK

The House of David was coming to town!

Those famous bearded gents were making a tour of the central states and were going to meet Arlington's Redwings on August 25 at 5:30 p.m. at the Redwing Park, 500 S. Highland.

This contest was the highlight of the Redwings' successful 1933 season, the fifth year for an Arlington team of that name. Charles Page was the man who guided the squad to an 18-8-1 mark.

SET ASIDE as "Officer Herb Skoog Day," Aug. 25 was a day fans had waited for all summer. Tickets were going fast and were sold at Sieburg's Drug Store; Heidorn's Sweet Shop, 11 E. Campbell; Gus Framberg's Candy Shop, 3 W. Davis; and the Arlington Cafe on Northwest Highway.

As the squads went through their pre-game workouts on the sidelines, the fans who had arrived early noticed that Manager Page was going to send his ace at the visitors, "Peanuts" Meyer. Meyer was warming up on the sidelines with catcher Rox Bolte.

THE UMPIRE called "Play Ball" and the Redwings trotted out to their positions. Marv Schulenburg went over to first base, Del Dobbins covered second, George Schaefer went to short, and Frank Brodnan to third. Ben Pitzen, Tony Witt and Ray Willert covered the outfield from right to left. Bolte did the catching with Meyer on the mound.

The House of David didn't waste any time breaking into the scoring column with a single run off Meyer in the first, but Arlington bounced back on a single by Dobbins and triple by Willert, the club's long-ball hitter. Arlington fell behind, 4-1, in the second and the score stayed at 4-1 until the visitors went ahead, 5-1, in the top of the sixth.

Brodnan started off an Arlington rally in the sixth with a single and Schaefer followed with another 1-base knock. Then Schulenburg drilled a double to left-center and the Redwings had cut the margin to 5-2. A double by Art Dieball and Schaefer's third hit brought in the third run in the seventh, and Arlington tied the count in the home half of the ninth thanks to key doubles by Brodnan and Dieball.

BOTH CLUBS failed to score in the tenth and the game was called on account of darkness. As the newspaper put it, "This was one of the finest baseball games ever played in Arlington Heights."

Meyer had worked the first 6 innings and yielded 9 scattered hits and 4 runs. Schaefer's 3 inning stint showed 5 strikeouts and 2 hits and Dieball, who finished, allowed no hits in 1 frame.

And so the Redwings had another feather in their cap for the '33 campaign. Sparked by the pitching of Meyer and Schaefer, Arlington proved to be one of the most formidable teams in the area, knocking off such clubs as Elmhurst, the Elgin Monarchs, Deerfield, the Chicago, Antigos, Maywood, Illini, Mt. Prospect, and Long Grove.

Where are some of these '33 Redwings today? Arlington residents include Marty Bencic, 127 S. Dunton; Paul Tossman, 111 S. Pine; Frank Brodnan, 1111 W. Wing; Ray Willert, Wilke rd.; Otts Meyer, 121 S. Evergreen; and George Schaefer, 25 S. Salem. Del Dobbins lives at 206 S. Wille in Wheeling and Manager Page is now in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Harley Easton was a fireman in Chicago, then moved to California. Deceased are "Peanuts" Meyer, the outstanding little pitcher, and Art Dieball, who formerly worked for the Wrigley Chewing Gum company. (Sp

4 Teams in Contention For Ladies Golf Lead

Team play on August 15 put 4 teams in strong contention for the trophy in the Rob Roy Ladies Golf League. The final day of league play matches: 1st place Pharmacy against 2nd place Town & Country, 3rd place Senne's against 5th place Jacob's, and 4th place Morava against 6th place Rhodes. Anything can happen with such a lineup, and the final standings can change drastically with so few points separating these teams.

This week A. H. Pharmacy, sparked by Captain Virginia Bengel's 51-11-40, managed to hold the lead position by collecting 5½ points from D. P. Liquor. Town & Country held its second spot, when it took 5 points from Jacob's with the help of Louise Kaunzinger's 51-17-34. Captain Nina Webber's 46-9-37 led Senne's into 3rd place with a 7-point win over Morava. Webber Paint moved up 2 notches when Merry Lockwood carded a 53-19-34 to pace them to a 6-point win over Rhodes. O'Hare also moved up a couple of notches when Lee Lewin chalked up 48-12-36 to spurt them into a 6½ point victory over Charm Center. Hagenbring's finally got into the race when Sylvia Hoffman's 52-13-39 helped them roll over Spiegler's for 7 points.

THE SHOT OF the day was made by Violet Foy on Hole No. 15, when she sunk her approach shot.

The weekly event was low gross. The first 3 positions played the front 9. Positions 4 and 5 and the second league played the back 9. The winners are as follows:

Position 1 — Maurine Griffenhagen (50).

Position 2 — Virginia Bengel (51).

Position 3 — Louise Kaunzinger (51).

Maywood Wins Region 4 Title In Pony League

Maywood was crowned Region 4 Pony League champions Aug. 19 by defeating Springfield twice at Harrer Field, Morton Grove. The District 7 representatives came back as the tourney's "Cinderella" team, losing in the first round against the same Springfield entry and then winning 6 straight.

In double-elimination play, Springfield had dominated in the first 3 days of action, and went into the finals with a record of 3-0. But, Maywood, battling back in the loser's bracket, eliminated Berwyn-Cicero, 9-3; North DuPage, 2-1; Joliet, 3-2; Blue Island, 8-1; and then scored the double triumph over Springfield, 4-2 and 1-0.

THE REGIONAL championship earned Maywood a place in the annual Pony World Series at Washington, Pa., starting Aug 26.

Pacing the Maywood champs were Jim Hovorka with 2 brilliant wins; Cliff Brown, who hit 2 key homers; and Steve Bokemier, first baseman, who sparkled both at the plate and in the field. It was Bokemier's double that scored the only tally in the final win over Springfield.

Frank Fredericks, president of the local Pony League, and Lyle Archer, Morton Grove, did a splendid job in conducting the tournament. The classic was held in conjunction with 'Morton Grove Days." (SP

Realty Team Ties Golden's For Golf Lead

The Geo. O'Day team, after a long, hard struggle in the Mt. Prospect Monday golf league, has finally tied the Golden team for the lead. This accomplishment represents a pull of more than 2 months' duration. At that time they were buried in eighth or ninth place.

With first and second place virtually a certainty for the 2 top teams, the third place spot can be taken by any one of 5 teams. There are only 5 points separating the third place and the seventh place team as of August 12. With only 2 more nights of play, it wouldn't be too difficult for any one of these teams to wind up among the first 3.

Birdies are as follows: Jilek—No. 16; Leutz No. 3; Stewart—No. 5; Jack Walter — No. 3.

Winners of weekly prizes were Sam Raworth with a 36 for low gross and Stewart Sage with a 37. Lippke's 30 and Hertel's 32 took low net honors.

Busse's Drops 7-3 Decision To Hank's Club

Busse Motor Sales was knocked off again last Tuesday in Mt. Prospect Twilight league play 7-3 by a Hank's Pure Oil team that played as if they'd just come from their sponsor's establishment with a fresh lubrication job. The defeat narrowed Busse's margin over second place Licht's Paint Store to a slim 5½ points throwing the league into a wide open race for all positions and only 2 nights to go.

The above-mentioned Licht's did much to further their own cause by clobbering Annen & Busse 9½-½. The Realtors who had been knocking off everything in sight obviously missed the inspiration of their "C" player, "Whispering" Red Barrow, who had a night off.

MT. PROSPECT Jewelers and Fadaro's Redwood Restaurant meanwhile continued the hot battle for the place positions, and after substitute secretary Walt Kadlec had figured and re-figured the scores it developed that his Pizza Purveyors had gone down to a 6-4 defeat which moved the Jewelers back to third place.

Fastex Halts General Mills For Loop Title

Scoring in every other inning, Fastex was never behind as it took a 6-3 victory from General Mills to walk off with the championship trophy in the Northwest Suburban YMCA Industrial softball league.

Lew Fox, starting a perfect three-for-three day, singled to left in the first inning. He scored on Doug Wanegar's base hit to center.

again in the third with a hit to again in the third with a hit to

Fox started things for Fastex left. Hal Eggert followed with a base rap to center, sending Fox to third. Wanegar drove in his second run of the evening with a sacrifice fly deep to center, scoring Fox and moving Eggert to second. Fred Both singled to left to drive Eggert across.

GENERAL MILLS made its move in the third. After Lou Pappas grounded out, Vic Monteleane singled and Ron Stasko doubled to put runners on second and third. Bob Engstrom promptly singled to right to drive in two runs. The threat ended as Dick Winkelhake and Don Nawroki both flied out.

Don Mueller made it a new ball game as he led off the General Mills fourth with a line drive home run down the right field line.

Fastex broke the tie right away as Joe Domovich led off the fifth with a single to left. Fox got his third base hit, a triple to right scoring Domovich. Fox then scored as Eggert bounced to Don Bianchi.

BUT GENERAL MILLS had plenty of fight left. Lou Pappas drew the only walk given up by both to lead off the home fifth. After Monteleane flew to center, Stasko singled to left with Pappas stopping at second. Engstrom came up and rapped one sharply at Manning who fliped to Eggert for one, and Eggert fired to Domovich to catch Papas trying to score. This sharp twin killing ended the inning.

Fastex added an insurance marker in the seventh, and only a beautiful grab of Wanegar's line drive by Winkelhake stopped the inning from being a bigger one.

Bob Psonok personally handled General Mills in the last inning as he grabbed 3 fly balls and the championship and trophies along with them. (SP

Vacationing

It was a combination business trip and vacation that took Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. Haag and daughters, Barbara and Martha, 611 E. Frederick, to Phoenix, Ariz. recently. They stayed at the Highway House hotel.

Ann Walsh and her daughters, Patty and Pamela, 1020 N. Haddow, returned Sunday after vacationing at the family summer cottage on Fox river.

Doris Bibbs and her children, Susan and Danny, 946 N. Haddow, returned Friday from a visit with Doris's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Spohr, and sister, Louise, in St. Louis, Mo. Doris reported that they enjoyed a nice visit, but that the weather was hot and it was good to get back home.

House Guests

George and Barb Riley, 944 N. Haddow had George's brother, Jim Riley, and his wife and 2 children, Kathy and Tommy, visiting them from Detroit for a few days. While here, they visited with their other daughter, Sister M. Marcelia, O.S.M. at St. Pat academy for Girls in Des Plaines.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beagle and their son, Paul, flew in from Phoenix, Ariz. to spend their vacation with relatives, the Richters at 943 N. Haddow.

Wedding Bells

David and Pat Almblad, 947 N. Haddow, and their daughter, Janet, attended the wedding of Pat's brother, Donald English, to Joan Tobiassen in Our Savior Lutheran church August 10. Janet was the flower girl and Pat reported that she behaved pretty well for a 3-year-old. The reception was held later at the Billy Caldwell Legion post in Chicago.

Last Tuesday Pat Almblad had a copper demonstration at her home. Kay Ekstrom was the demonstrator and showed the various copper pieces used in the home today. Ladies from the block attended and enjoyed coffee and cake afterwards. (A

Water Show, Archery Meet Features at Lions Park

A road which was not in the original planning of a Hanover resident's 163-acre property has caused a hearing before the Cook county zoning board of appeals in Room 1313, 130 N. Wells st., at 1:30 p. m. Monday.

When Joseph A. Berner, Rte. 1; Evanston-Elgin rd., Elgin, subdivided his property, located between Golf and Shoe Factory rds. ¾ of a mile west of Rohrson rd. in Hanover township, he made them into R-1 residences of 5 acres.

WITH ADDITIONAL development of the 5 acre plots, an access road was necessary. In so building the road, the plots were cut to less than 5 acres on approximately a dozen plots.

Berner's attorney, Maurice J. Nathanson, Chicago, said he will seek a variance in the minimum acreage created by the road. As proposed no lot would be more than 10 per cent smaller than the 5 acre requirement. Nathanson said most lots run 4.8 or 4.9 acres.

Also the road reduced the minimum front feet below 300 and Nathanson is seeking a variation on this matter.

Trailer Families Can't Find Homes As Eviction Deadline Approaches

by SANDY SANDOVAL

For 15 Elk Grove area families September 16 casts a black shadow over their future.

Ordered evicted from the farm where they live in trailers — some of them have lived there five years — they find themselves with no place to go. Trailer camps hae refused them. One who tried to buy a home was turned down.

The families are Americans of Mexican descent. Originally migrant workers who came from Texas in the Spring and returned in the fall, they have now settled here. They no longer work on the farm for low wages but in factories and on construction jobs which pay much more. Many of them live in clean, attractive, modern trailers.

The 15 families live on the Alvin Hasselman farm, located on Touhy ave., west of Wolf rd.

DEKALB JUDGE Ross E. Millett, presiding in Cook county court, ruled last month that these families must move because their presence on the farm violates the county zoning ordinance. Having no place to go, they have made no move to comply with the order.

Some of the families have tried. One of the men, a machinist, reported a relative tried to make a down payment on a home in Wood Dale but was turned down because of his Mexican lineage. Another according to Hasselman, was accepted at a trailer camp until the owner found that he was of Mexican origin.

Meanwhile, life goes on as usual at the Hasselman farm.

A young, well built construction worker who lives in clean, modern trailer with his brother proudly exhibited the clean, well arranged interior to the reporter. His name is Reymundo Ramos and he lives there the year round.

"I don't see why they don't like us," he said. "We are just as good anybody." His English was fluent, with only a trace of an accent.

A GRAYING MOTHER of 13 children took time out from washing her laundry to say that she was not worried about eviction. Her attitude was cheerful. Speaking in Spanish, she said: "They told us we had 30 days to move in June; then in July they said we had to move in August and now they say it's the 16th of the coming month. Why should be worry?"

Many of the families are paying for their trailers. Unless they can move to another camp, they will lose both their home and their investment. Still worse, moving to low income housing in Chicago means that they will be too far from their jobs in the suburbs.

Some can move to other farms but they must be employed by the farmer in order to comply with the zoning ordinance. This means that they will have to work for wages which, according to Hasselman, are as low as 75 cents an hour for the men and 60 for the women.

AUTHORITIES are stymied about a solution to the problem. Judge Willett washed his hands clean of the problem: "The problem of relocating these people is not ours. We have our own problems."

He said that was Hasselman's headache since he allowed the families to settle on his farm. But Hasselman has no solution: "I've done all I can; it is no longer up to me. I stick my neck out to help these people and I get it chopped off," he asserted.

Hasselman's interest is not purely humanitarian; he collects $30 monthly from each family but said that he pays for the electricity.

Father Robert A. Reicher, of St. James Catholic church in Arlington Heights, has been trying to find housing for the 15 families but has not been successful. He asked that all who can help should contact him. (B7

HOPE FOR A BETTER FUTURE was expressed by Reymundo Ramos, a construction worker. He was happy to show the reporter through his clean, modern trailer. He cannot understand, he said, why other Americans discriminate against him when he is just as good as they are.

Day Of Rest

Stonewall Jackson, Confederate general, considered fighting battles on Sunday a sacrilege.

SOME OF THE FAMILIES who live at the Hasselman farm have new trailers and late-model cars. If they are not admitted to a trailer camp, they will lose their mobile homes. These families feel that their trailers would not detract from the good appearance of any trailer camp.

Good Seed Mix Vital for Lawn

A prepared seedbed, tilled and fertilized, is essential for a good lawn start. But a good seedbed will be in vain unless quality seed is properly sown, according to Robert W. Schery, director of Better Lawn and Turf Institute, Kansas City, Mo.

It's not difficult to choose the right seed mixture, for most of the nation north of Atlanta and Albuquerque. Just read the fine print on the seed box, to make certain it predominates in the so-called basic grasses, bluegrass and its cohorts.

On a percentage basis Kentucky bluegrass and the red fescue group should account for most of the mixture, perhaps with lesser quantities of bentgrass and little or no coarse "nursegrasses" the likes of ryegrass.

THERE ARE OVER 2 million bluegrass seeds to the pound. The problem is to distribute these uniformly, certainly not easy by hand methods. Well made seeder-spreaders can distribute as little as 2 pounds over an area 30' by 30'. Or hand-cranked whirlwind seeders can help sow larger areas.

When sowing must be by hand, uniform distribution at light rates becomes more difficult. There is no advantage in sowing too heavily. More than about 4 pounds to the 1000 sq. ft. of a seed mixture with seeds mostly the size of Kentucky bluegrass can crowd the grass to its detriment.

FOR AN inexperienced lawnsman it might prove helpful to dilute the seed 50-50 with some inert, such as sand, screened soil, cornmeal or even fertilizer. This gives greater bulk, which can be distributed half in one direction, the other half at right angles to assure against missed spots.

After sowing, application of a mulch will prove helpful. This is frequently clean straw, a few straws deep. Mulches keep seed and soil from washing, and help retain moisture after sprinkling. The combination of moisture with warmth, a combination favored in autumn, should get the new seeding off to a fast start. (DL

Piepenbrink Family Holds 3rd Reunion

The third reunion of the Piepenbrink family, long-time residents of the area, was held Sunday at the Elk Grove picnic grounds, with 98 members representing 4 generations of 30 related families. Many more families living out-of-state were unable to attend. A potluck picnic lunch was enjoyed and afternoon games for all ages were planned, although the activities were cut short by thunderstorms.

Next year's reunion was discussed and a committee of 4 appointed. Mrs. Frank Runge, 940 N. Dunton, Walter Niemeyer, 38 S. Mitchell, Mrs. Leonard Rateike, 717 N. Evergreen and William Piepenbrink of Mount Prospect will plan the 1958 affair. (B7

THE DRAPERY STORY

Would you work for no salary . . . ?

Not for long we'll bet. Yet, how many times have you seen the advertised statement "Free Labor"?

If you are confused about this and other fantastic claims about so-called bargain draperies, here are some facts to consider:

Labor is never free! We pay our very competent craftsmen a good wage. The cost or so called "free labor" is always added to the price of materials or hidden in your cost some how!

Yet, because we have excellent yard goods connections, many years' experience, and a very low overhead, it is our opinion that we can offer a completely finished drapery installation for less money than our competitors. Further, our draperies must fit or we won't let you keep them.

No charge for estimates . . . fabric and color advice.

Wide choice. We have an extensive collection of modern, provincial, tropical, and traditional designs and newest textured plain fabrics and colors.

Prices start as low as $12.98 per pair

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The wisdom of basing thought on constructive, perfect, spiritual models will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday, August 25.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" is the Golden Text from Romans (11:33): "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!"

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (248:26-29): "We must form perfect models in thought and look at them continually, or we shall never carve them out in grand and noble lives."

Scriptural readings include the following (Philippians 3:15): "Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you."

The Immediate Answer To Prayer

On Sunday, August 25, a young man from New York City, tells of his quick healing of a broken collarbone and a woman from Chicago tells how she was healed in several hours of an attack of acute appendicitis on the regular Sunday television series, "How Christian Science Heals," viewed on Channel 7, WBKB-TV, at 9:45 a.m. The program shows how God's presence can bring immediate, effective relief through prayer alone.

The radio program of the same name is heard each Sunday over Station WAIT (820 K.C.) at 1:30 p.m. and Station WNMP (1590 K.C.) at 9:15 a.m.

"Hay Fever and Asthma Healed" is the title of this week's program.

How New Palatine Dial Phones Affect Service

Individual line, 2-party and private switchboard telephone users with CLearbrook numbers can now dial direct to all telephones in Palatine.

Direct dialing is possible as the result of the conversion of remaining non-dail telephones there to dial service on August 18, according to Robert E. Kozeliski, manager here for Illinois Bell.

"THIS MEANS that it will no longer be necessary for these customers to dial a code number to reach some Palatine telephones," Kozeliski explained. "Now they'll be able to dial all Palatine calls direct, just as they dial their local calls."

Customers with 4 and 8-party service will continue to place their Palatine calls with the operator, Kozeliski said.

With the changeover to dial in Palatine, new numbers beginning with the telephone names FLanders 8 and FLanders 9 were introduced. These numbers are listed in the new Arlington Heights directory delivered recently.

"WHEN YOU'RE calling someone in Palatine, please look in the directory to be sure you have the correct number," Kozeliski suggested.

There is no change in the charge for these calls, the manager added. (AM

Gambling Pal Is Charged With Beating, Robbery

Edward G. Kush of Arlington Heights last week charged that a man he met and wagered with in a north side Chicago tavern July 24 later beat and robbed him of a wallet containing $320 in cash and checks.

KUSCH TOLD Justice of the Peace Walter P. Dahl, sitting in District No. 1 county police court in Arlington Heights village hall, that Michael Szczepanski, of 2530 N. Kedzie, Chicago, was the tavern acquaintance who, along with another man took his wallet.

At the conclusion of the preliminary hearing, JP Dahl ordered Szczepanski bound over to the Cook county grand jury on a robbery charge.

KUSCH CLAIMED the alleged incident occurred about 8 a. m. in the parking lot of a delicatessen at 6432 W. Montrose, in unincorporated Norwood Park township.

He had gone to the store after leaving a Milwaukee ave. tavern. Before going to the tavern about 5 a. m., Kusch said he had fished in Lake Michigan all night.

Under questioning by Irving Block, attorney for Szczepanski, Kusch admitted he had approached several patrons trying to make a wager that his auto tires were larger than theirs. Szczepanski said he agreed to the bet and the 2 of them examined both sets of tires, Kusch losing.

KUSCH LEFT a short time later, intending to stop at the store before returning to work at his auto repair shop.

Kusch said he recognized Szczepanski as one of 2 men who jumped into his car after he reached the parking lot, hit him with a bottle and fled with his wallet. He wrote down a license number which police traced to Szczepanski.

Fointing to Szczepanski, Richard Nibbelink, 5920 N. Ridge, Chicago, a food salesman, said he "looks like" one of the pair who ran from Kusch's auto and drove away in their own car.

Nibbelink also took down the license number of the suspect's car.

The defendant admitted to ownership of the car but declared that he had remained in the tavern from 7 to 10 a. m.

The second party involved in the alleged theft was not identified.

JP DAHL FOUND an 18-year-old Barrington youth guilty of disorderly conduct and put him on probation until October 2. The youth admitted following 2 Prospect Heights housewives in a car for a distance of 5 miles last month.

Explain 1958 Amendment Election

Voters of Illinois will have the opportunity to vote on 2 amendments to the state constitution at the 1958 November election. These amendments, submitted by the 70th general assembly, propose to amend the judicial and county officers' articles of the constitution.

The judicial amendment would give the state an integrated court system in which all judicial powers would be vested in 3 levels of courts: the Supreme, Appellate, and Circuit courts. In lieu of other existing courts there would be division of the Circuit court — the only trial court.

THE SUPREME COURT would consist of 7 justices, as at present, but with 3 elected from Cook County and 2 from each of 2 different downstate districts. The Supreme court would exercise extensive administrative powers over the court system as a whole.

The Appellate court would have 4 districts. Cook county would be one of these districts while the rest of the state would be divided into 3 districts, with present boundaries being retained until changed in the future by law. For the bulk of litigation the decision of the Appellate court would be final.

The present Circuit court would continue until changed by law, but with each county always having at least one associate Circuit court judge. The minor judiciary would be merged into the Circuit court as magistrates thereof. Incumbent clerks of all courts, the bailiff of the Chicago Municipal court, and other non-judicial personnel will continue in office until the expiration of their terms. Thereafter, the general assembly will provide for the selection, term, removal and salary of such officers.

ALL JUDGES WOULD be licensed attorneys, devoting full time to their duties. The present system of electing judges would continue until changed by law. Any future fundamental change in the method of selection would require a 2/3 vote of both houses of the legislature and ratification by a majority of the electors voting on the proposition.

The amendment to the "county officers' article" of the Constitution would permit the electors of a county, if they so desire, to reelect their sheriff or treasurer, and thus to benefit from training and experience possessed by an incumbent. (B7

New Quarters For Bug District

The Northwest Mosquito Abatement District recently purchased 24 acres from the Public Service company for $6200. The purchase, which included a house and large garage, is located at 147 Hintz rd., Wheeling, and will serve as permanent headquarters for the District.

Extensive remodeling will be necessary although offices have already been set up at the new location. The board of directors had been searching for a site since the district was established.

CHARLES ZANZIE, board president, also announced that a remote control operation of the mist blowers has been devised for spraying larvae and adult mosquitoes. It will cut the spraying operation in half, requiring only one instead of 2 operators.

Zanzie has installed special valves and motors which permit the vehicle driver to control the blower in any direction desired. The savings to the taxpayer will be considerable when installations on all machines are completed.

DIRECTOR MITCHELL reported that many citizens were very pleased to have crews enter their estates or farms to spray larvae or adult mosquitoes. The district policy is to reach the mosquitoes wherever they may be and under no circumstances are extra compensations expected. Sprayers have orders not to solicit or accept additional emoluments under penalty of losing their positions.

Any inquiries or complaints about the mosquito abatement may be made at the Hintz rd. office or by phoning Wheeling 2306 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. (B7

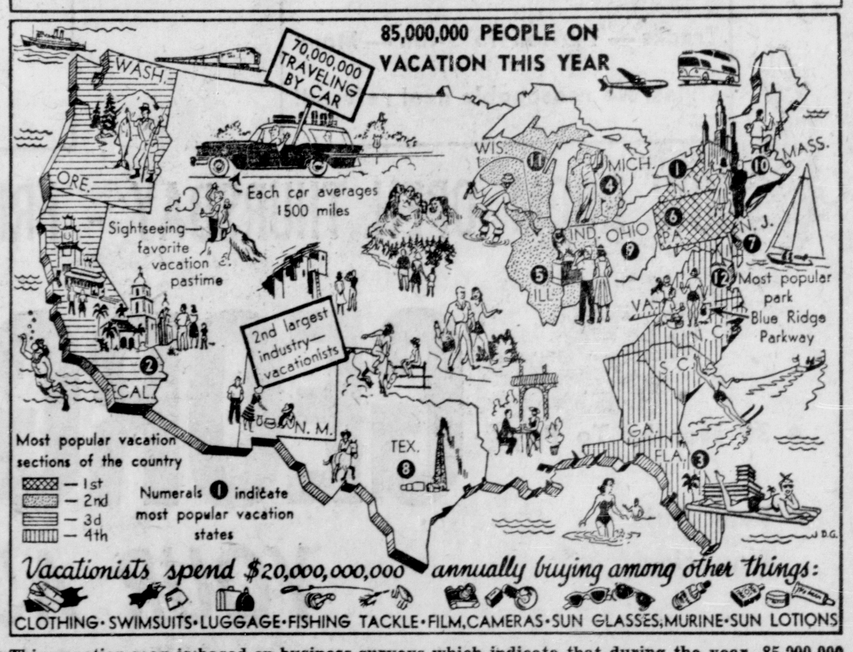
HAPPY VACATION!—HERE'S WHAT YOU DO



This vacation map is based on business surveys which indicate that during the year, 85,000,000 persons will go on vacation with 70,000,000 traveling by car. The most popular vacation area appears to be the North Atlantic States from New Jersey upward. Other popular areas are around Lake Michigan, out on the Pacific Coast and along the South Atlantic Coast. However, there are many popular vacation states outside these areas. About $20 billion is spent annually having fun and relaxing.

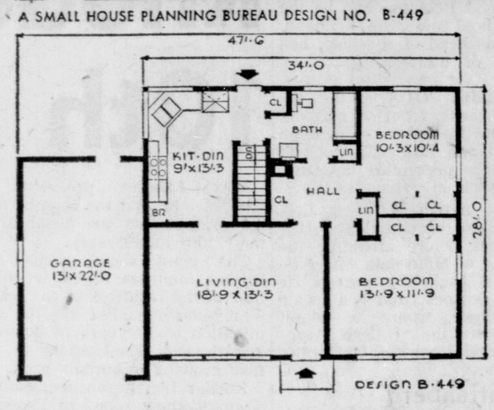
A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-449



DESIGN B-449. This design is small in area but large in room sizes. A sneak-thru door in the bathroom eliminates the usual long hall. The bathroom doubles as a clean-up room and entrance to the central hall. Spacious bedrooms boast large wardrobe type closets and the coat closet has been placed in the central hall.

The kitchen is L-shaped with informal dining space, a broom closet and corner sink with corner windows that overlook the rear yard. The attached garage can be omitted very easily if lot is not wide enough. A "little different" look is achieved on the exterior by the use of wide V-joint vertical siding, plywood gable ends and casement type windows. Floor area is 952 square feet, cubage is 17,612 cubic feet (excluding garage.)

For further information about DESIGN B-449, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Rhodes Celebrates 10th Anniversary

Max Rhodes, president of Rhodes inc., and the members of his organization are celebrating their 10th anniversary.

The giant show rooms and service facilities which are familiar to the residents of the northwest suburban area are the culmination of 10 years of business growth and development in the fast growing suburban area.

Rhodes Inc. began operation in a small show room in Prospect Heights 10 years ago and in the following years moved its operations to a larger showroom in Prospect Heights. They also bought and operated appliance stores in Arlington Heights and Palatine. Two years ago the 3 stores were combined under the one roof of the giant building on Northwest hwy. between Arlington Heights and Palatine.

RHODES NOTED that his business has already outgrown the present facilities of 24,000 sq. feet and he contemplates an addition to his present building.

Rhodes Inc., is the largest appliance dealer in the northwest suburban area. "We give our customers the best deal possible," said Rhodes: "We are able to do this by making all of our purchases in car load and truck load lots and in turn we have a large volume and a small mark up."

Rhodes inc. deals in all name brand appliances.

The Rhodes operation follows up all of their sales with first class service facilities. The service department has 16 full time employees ready to handle all service calls.

"OUR SERVICEMEN are trained to handle repairs on all merchandise that we sell. All of our men are trained right at the factory when a new product is put on the market," said Rhodes.

This firm expanded into the furniture business last year and handles it on the same high volume, low cost method used on their appliances.

Rhodes sees a bright future for his business. "High volume sales, low operation costs, with the savings passed on to the customers is the coming method of doing business," said Rhodes.

Rhodes recently returned from the American university in Washington, D.C. where he attended a business management institute designed especially for appliance dealers. He has attended this institute for several years.

Rhodes has been a resident of Arlington Heights since 1940 and attributes much of the success of his business to the advertising columns of Paddock Publications.

Brewery Industry Paid $37 Million To Illinois

Illinois' operating expenses for its network of highways were $12,819,000 less than the total federal and state taxes collected on beer and ale in Illinois last year, the United States Brewers Foundation reported this week in a special economic review.

Taxes on beer and ale in Illinois amount to $37,658,000 in 1956, indicating the brewing industry's impact on the state economy.

BY WAY OF comparison, Illinois spent $24,839,000 in operating expenses on its highways in 1956.

Illinois' 21 breweries rolled 3,298,400 barrels of beer and ale off their production lines last year to rank 10th among the nastates, the foundation's economic review disclosed. Illinois was immediately headed by Minnesota which had a production of 3,838,159 barrels in 1956. Wisconsin was the No. 1 beer producing state with 11,938,007 barrels.

The brewing industry in Illinois used a mountainous 196,026,953 pounds of agricultural products last year to rank as an important farm customer. The state's breweries purchased 142,703,005 pounds of barley, 49,448,935 pounds of corn, 213,043 pounds of soy beans and soy bean products, 2,476,460 pounds of sugar and sirups, and 1,185,510 pounds of hops and hop extracts.

Today's Home Better Than Grand father's

From door locks to walls and roofs, they're building homes a lot better now than they did in Grandpa's day.

So says Richard F. (Dick) Weber, who next year will mark his 40th year in the Chicago area construction business. He's now production manager for Hasbrook Construction Co., Inc., which is building 532 homes in Arlington Heights.

Weber, who has built 1,300 homes in his lifetime, cited brick veneer construction, forced air heating, lighting, and union training as the most important changes made in home construction since he started in 1918.

"WHEN I BEGAN as an apprentice carpenter in 1918, you could buy only 2 kinds of homes, either solid brick or frame-and-siding. One was too expensive and the other was too hard to maintain," Weber said.

Today's brick veneer home combines the advantages of these 2 forms, with few or none of the disadvantages. In veneer construction, exterior face brick is built up as an independent wall with metal wall ties to the insulated framing.

"This way, you get the economy of building a frame house plus the all-weather protection of a brick home. In addition, the insulated air space between the interior wall and the brick improves the heating and cooling of the home," he said.

AS FOR HEATING equipment, he remarked:

"Remember Grandmother's basement, with the big furnace and pipes that looked like an octopus and took up half the space? That was the old gravity furnace. The hot air was supposed to rise and find its way to rooms, but it didn't always work too well."

In the modern home, the furnace is small enough to be tucked into a closet, he said. It's more efficient, too, since fans are used to force the warm air through the ducts. These same ducts can also be used for air conditioning.

In building homes ranging from $2,200 in depression days to $130,000, Weber has noticed dramatic changes in lighting.

"IN THE GOOD old days, all we had were bare bulbs hanging on a drop cord from the ceiling," he said. "You had to reach up and pull the chain to turn the light on or off."

Now, he said, we have direct lighting, indirect lighting, recessed lighting, and perimeter lighting, all designed to make homes more comfortable and safer to live in.

Weber commended union training programs for improving construction quality as well as reducing the time required to build a home.

"Thanks to better-trained men, plus wider use of power tools and new fabricating methods, we can build a house much faster than we could 40 years ago," he said.

"FOR INSTANCE, a roof used to be built of single boards nailed on. This construction often warped and wrinkled. Now we use bonded plywood, which is not only faster to apply but won't warp."

"Then look at door locks," he went on. "Before, several holes, considerable drilling, and a lot of fitting time was required to install a simple lock and knob. Today, the carpenter needs only 2 drilled holes, 4 screws, and a few minutes to do the job."

There are many other refinements in today's homes that Grandpa and Grandma never dreamed about, including built-in appliances, waste disposers, thermostatic heat controls and the like.

In addition to building homes, Weber has supervised the building of 3,000 apartment units throughout the Chicago area. He has also served as general superintendent on various industrial and commercial building projects.

THE FATHER of 2 girls and 2 boys, Weber and his wife live at 9233 Bellfort ave., Morton Grove.

Does he recommend the construction business for others?

"It's the most fascinating and healthful occupation a man can have," he said. (BB

Poole Ford Agency Opens Auto Leasing Service

BILL BICKNASE

George C. Poole, Arlington Heights Ford dealer, recently opened an automobile leasing facility.

The new firm, known as the Car Poole Leasing inc., will lease Ford equipment on a monthly basis.

Bill Bicknase has been named by Poole to head the new firm. Bicknase has been with the Poole organization since 1950 and prior to his new appointment was a salesman. Bicknase is a long time area resident.

THE NEW FIRM will lease Edsel, Mercury, Ford, and Lincoln products. The customer may select any automobile he desires with the equipment of his choice.

This is the only firm in Arlington Heights to offer this service.

An automobile that is leased by a customer requires no down payment. All upkeep is the responsibility of the leasing firm. The customer is only responsible for gasoline and the washing of the automobile. When an automobile is leased it gives the customer a definite picture of expenses for tax purposes. (BB

Operatic First

The first opera by an American composer was 'The Temple of Minerva," by Francis Hopkinson. It was produced in 1781.

Court Officer Firm, School Tax on Builders 'Illegal' overruled all objections to his opinion that the Park Ridge school tax on builders is illegal.

Albert M. Sheppard, Circuit court Master-in-Chancery, in his report issued Thursday also overrued a plea to put his recommendation in stronger terms.

THIS REQUEST was from attorneys representing six builders who filed suit in 1956 challenging a 1954 ordinance requiring subdividers pay $300 per lot into a Park Ridge school fund when they submit their plans for city approval.

Sheppard has recommended the court find the ordinance unconstitutional. The power to provide means of raising revenue for school facilities belongs with the state legislature, Sheppard held.

Attorneys expect the trial to start in early September before either Judge John T. Dempsey or Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

If Sheppard's recommendation is upheld, another issue is who should get the money the builders paid into the fund. It totals more than $100,000. None of it has been spent. It has been held in escrow pending outcome of the case.

SHEPPARD recommended the cash be returned to the builders who put it in.

Jack Siegel, Park Ridge school board attorney, strongly objects, contends this would be "windfall profits" for the subdividers.

"If there are any refunds, the money should go to the new home owners," Siegel maintains. Cost of the ordinance fee was passed on when the home was sold, Siegel asserted. (BB

Sales Pitch Is Proving Success

(CNS) — A sales pitch by Public Service company division of Commonwealth Edison concerning modern street light poles apparently has gone over with the suburbs.

At a July hearing, several suburban representatives gave the plan the "blackout treatment," said they wouldn't touch it even with insulated rubber gloves.

But there were no objections Thursday before the Illinois Commerce Commission and the case was taken under study.

THE UTILITY is willing to install and maintain street light poles in suburbs and new subdivisions. There would be a charge only where the street lights aren't on the same poles that carry the company's regular electrical distribution lines.

The fee would be 15 per cent annually of the company's cost of the pole which would be paid for all time. This includes the cost of replacement, also eliminates the necessity of suburbs hiring maintenance crews.

Four types of poles are offered by the utility. The economy size sells for $96. There's also the "notched pole" costing $127, a "deluxe sanded" or machine tooled model for $131, and the "suburban delight" for $172. This pole is bored end to end and the electrical wiring doesn't show.

EARLY PROTESTORS pointed out poles could cost a suburb more than $1,000 each over 25 years and that wouldn't end it because the charge is made so long as the pole is up.

"But when you consider all the other costs involved, we're not getting rich," said one Edison official. Apparently, the suburbs agreed. (BB

Catching Cold in England Can Be Profitable Sacrifice

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Catching a cold can be profitable.

Free vacations are being offered to people in England if they will expose themselves to catching cold. It is all part of the experiments of the Cold Research Center in Salisbury, England.

Two weeks' board and room, plus pocket money, are offered to anybody who wishes to take this unusual form of vacation. The Research Center partly resembles a country club. Guests sit around sunning themselves (when the sun shines in England), using the swimming pool, playing tennis or dancing in the evenings, collecting three shillings a day (about 40 cents) for their presence.

NOT ALL the guests, however, circulate so freely. Some are confined to cells where they are deprived of human contact. Robots deliver their meals to them and for sometimes up to 2 weeks they speak directly to no one.

Surprisingly, numerous people come to the Cold Research Center requesting this kind of 2-week isolation. "It is the only place I know of I can be alone," stated one of the Center's guests. Students cramming for examinations find the privacy ideal.

Some of the vacationers are injected with virus. All of them are put through some kind of test designed to determine conditions under which colds are most easily, or most rarely, transmitted.

ONE RULE of the establishment, however, is strictly followed: Once an applicant has been admitted for his free holidays, he cannot leave the grounds.

Both men and women, but not children, are admitted. Pneumonia is not part of the curriculum.

This method is of recruiting human guinea pigs, through offering periods of rest and relaxation in ideal surroundings, has met with such a success that other research centers in England expect to follow suit.

At this time there are about 1200 people waiting on the list for admission. Providing the risks are not too great, English people like the plan—and for many of them it offers a vacation that their savings could not otherwise have supplied. (B12

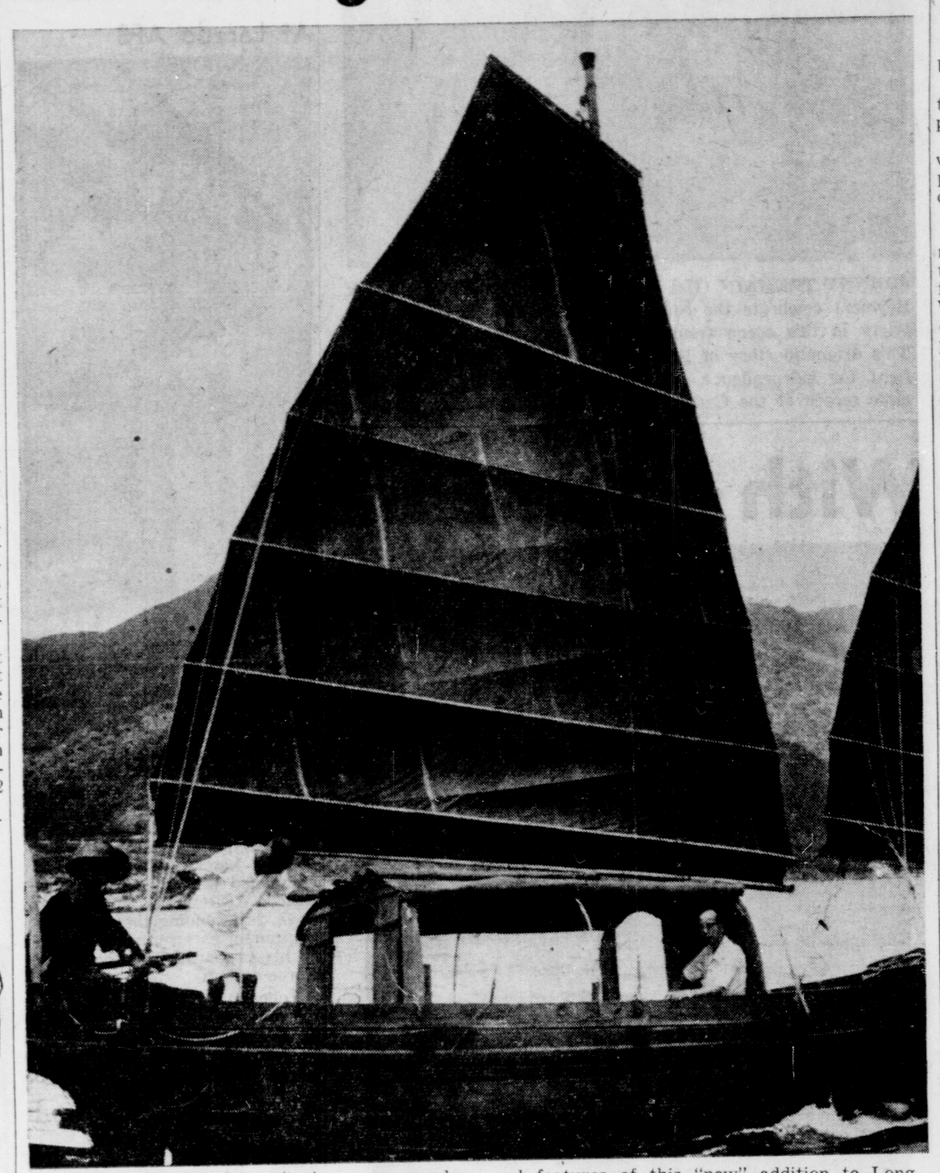
Chinese Junk 'New' Fad For Sailing Enthusiasts



CHINESE JUNKS, for centuries cargo vessels in the East, may become the "sports car of the sailing world." The crafts, with modern innovations, are now being sold to boat enthusiasts desiring the unusual and yet practical features of this "new" addition to Long Island's sailing fleet. A sailboat or motorboat, the "Seadragon" sells for around $4,500, complete and ready to go.

by JACK MARTIN

The newest addition to Long Island's mass sailing fleet isn't really new at all. In fact this "new" craft has been seen for several thousands of years in other parts of the world as a cargo vessel.

The Chinese Junk, or Sampan, may revolutionize the small craft field. Perfected more than 20 centuries ago by Chinese craftsmen, the efficient sailing design of these Junks has finally been "discovered" by pleasure boaters in New York.

CHRISTENED the "Seadragons," these Sampans are now available for people desiring family cruising crafts. They may be used as either a sailboat or motor sailer.

Picturesque, unusual and full of personality, the Seadragon may establish a position as the sports car of the sailing world. It is also practical: roomy and comfortable, it will require minimum maintenance. There is no brass to polish and no bright work to varnish. The solid teak hull is constructed with watertight compartments for a major saftey factor plus unusual storage room.

ALTHOUGH the design is ancient, certain modern conveniences have been included for today's yachtsmen. A motor well has been added to accommodate an 18 h.p. Evinrude Fastwin. Bunks of Koylon foam, covered in Naugahyde offer comfortable sleeping.

The Seadragon will sell in the budget price bracket, probably well under $5000, complete and ready to sail.

THESE BOATS are 25 feet feet long with a waterline length of 18 feet. They are equipped with mainsail and foresail and a 10 h.p. motor. (can accommodate up to 18 h.p. outboard).

Located amidships, the main cabin is approximately 8 feet long and 7 feet wide, easily furnishing overnight accomodations for 4.

BEHIND THIS rather off beat idea are syndicated record columnist and critic Charles J. Schreiber and his publicist wife Joanne. Together they have modified the Sampan cargo and fishing craft into a comfortable and serviceable cruising craft. This is no whim or "one shot" deal they insist.

Originally, the Schreibers wanted to fulfill a longtime ambition to own a Chinese Junk of their own. In the beginning they had no intention of doing anything on a commercial basis.

THE SCHREIBERS asked Drummond if he could import a model Chinese Junk for them. They were informed that a 25 ft. "model" had just been imported and shipped to Detroit. The critic and his wife flew out for an afternoon's sail to get a series of photographs of the boat. They fell in love with what they saw.

After going over the photos of the crude but time tested craft, Charley, with the assistance of some sailing friends, modified the design for pleasure sailing and cruising. Bill Drummond's brother, a Hongkong manufacturer, agreed to put the boats into production.

THE FIRST "Seadragon" arrived as deck cargo August 12. It was put over the side and towed secretly up to Travers Island, the summer home of the New York Athletic club. There it was assembled and finished for display.

Boat enthusiasts desiring to capture the Eastern intrigue in a comfortable, practical craft can now purchase a "Seadragon" from the Transorient Boat co., in New York or by contacting Charles J. Schreiber, 40 E. 51st st., New York City.

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

A stack of delightful summer platters and tapes, so let's start right in and lead off with Victor's LPM-1462x, "Mexican Sweetheart," on which lovely Maria Victoria makes her debut singing delectable love ballads like "Eso," 'Verdad que tu me quieres," "Mil Besos" and "Amor" with Juan Garcia Ecquivel's orchestra. This charming songstress won fame in Mexico, and this waxing is certain to earn her a huge audience. You needn't know Spanish to understand the mood she projects!

Two 12-inch Victor albums feature Guy Luypaerts and his orchestra and suggest vacations across the seasons. One's "Music of the Danube" with the virtuoso Nitza Codalban playing his cymbalom, and it makes for enticing listening in tunes like 'The Blue Danube," "Alphine Holiday," "Hungarian Dance," the Czech "Song of Love," a Strauss medley and the dashing "Serbian Kolo." The other is 'Music of the Volga" (LPM-1417), with the balalaikas of Dimitri Liakhoff. You'll find "Dark Eyes," "Song of the Volga Boatmen," and that wonderfully rousing "Song of the Cossacks," which simulates the distant approaching horses' hooves, and then their receding, all to the rhythm of one of the most haunting tunes you'll ever hear.

EDDIE FISHER has a great new Victor 12-incher, "Thinking of You," singing with Hugo Winterhalter and his orchestra such favorites as the title number, "My Blue Heaven," "What Can "I Say, Dear?" "Wish You Were Here," "Oh, My Papa," and 'How Do You Speak to an Angel?" And Perry Como offers one of his best waxings, the LPM-1463 "We Get Letters," singing with Mitchell Ayres and his orchestra many of your favorites like "Swinging Down the Lane," "It's Easy to Remember," "South of the Border," "Angry," "They Can't Take That Away from Me, and "S'posin."

Reminds us that Perryll be back Saturday nights with a colorcast on NBC-TV before too long. And Vaughn Monroe contributes another great Victor waxinz with "House Party" (LPM-1493) with the Moonmen and orchestra led by Gene Hammett. Vaughn is in rare form with "I Want a Girl," "The Sidewalks of New York," "On a Bicycle Built for Two," 'Whiffenpoof Song" and "You Are My Sunshine."

INCIDENTALLY, you'll preserve the fine sound of your lps if you'll wipe them before and after playing with Jensen Silcloth, a chemically treated cloth which eliminates not only dirt but also static electricity. If your needle grinds that dirt down into the grooves, goodbye hi-fi sound. And it's a good idea also to take an old toothbrush and gently brush against the record player needle every few discs — you'll be amazed how much dirt the needle picks up!

Concert Hall Society was one of the lp pioneers, inaugurated by 2 brother chemists, and specializing in unusual music from the baroque era. Crowell-Collier Publishing Company bought them out and we applaud this enterprising publisher's new releases on lp and stereo tape albums. Three new 12-inch discs are at hand, each featuring the excellent pianistic artistry of Philippe Extremont, the gifted young French artist in his early twenties.

ONE ALBUM presents a program of Chopin's music, including 6 waltzes, the lofty A Flat Polonaise and the sardonic C Sharp Minor Scherzo. Entremont's fine technique and avoidance of oversentimentality makes this record a treat to hear. On a second CHS platter, he plays the Liszt E Flat and A Major Piano Concerti with the Zurich Radio Orchestra under Walter Goehr. Bravura technique, brilliant music and superb reproduction make this album a real prize.

His third CHS album (1501) pairs a romantic reading of the Rachmaninoff Second Piano Concerto in C Minor with a poetic interpretation of Cesar Franck's beautiful Symphonic Variations; both works are with the Netherlands Philharmonic. A very attractive disc, and piano tone reproduction on all 3 is especially notable.

CONCERT HALL Society's recent stereo tape albums (for inline heads) of the mighty Verdi Requiem and the complete "Water Music" by Handel set standards for artistic excellence and sonic clarity. New albums of merit include virile performances of the Brahms First and Fourth Symphonies by the Frankfurt Opera Orchestra under Carl Bamberger and a deliciously lvric treatment of Beethoven's Fourth Symphony in B Flat by the same orchestra. Another stereo tape offers Entremont's reading of the Franck Variations already reviewed on lp with Gershwin's "Variations on 'I Got Rhythm' " with the talented young American woman pianist Sondra Bianca as soloist. Try these on the RCA-Victor Stereophonic Player with companion speaker; it's an unforgettable experience!

Channel 11 Ups Power Sept. 3

"Watts up? More power to you from Channel 11 September 3!"

This is WTTW's slogan for its five-fold power boost, which will go into effect Tuesday afternoon, September 3. On that day the educational station will increase its operating power from 55,000 watts, making its signal comparable to that of Chicago's 4 commercial stations.

A SPECIAL PROGRAM, featuring films of the turning on of high power and previews of fall programs, will be telecast from 8 to 8:30 p.m. September 3.

Among the new fall programs to be previewed are 9 credit courses presented by the Chicago City Junior College; a weekly series of French language lessons; "Magic Doorways," a new children's program, and "Tomorrow's Adults," a parent-education series with Dr. Maria Piers of the Institute for Psychoanalysis. In addition, "Ticker Tape," the investment series produced by the Central States Group of the Investment Bankers Association of America, will resume in September.

Continuing as presently scheduled are "World Spotlight," background of the news show by the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations; "All Things Considered," the University of Chicago's round table discussion show on varied topics of interest and "Time for Religion," a series shared by the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago, the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, and the Chicago Rabbinical Association.

A GENERAL ELECTRIC high power amplifier has been installed on the 45th floor of the Field Building, 135 S. LaSalle st., where WTTW's transmitter has been operating since September of 1955. (Channel 11's studios are in the Museum of Science and Industry).

The boost will improve WTTW's reception within the city and will extend the reception area an additional 10 to 15 miles, explained the station's director of engineering, Duane Weise. People now in the fringe area, he said, who have been having difficulty receiving Channel 11's signal, will find the signal comparable in strength to that of the other Chicago stations when the increase goes into effect.

The power boost also will enable the WTTW signal to be picked up more readily and at greater distances with built-in antennas. Radius of the operating signal will increase from the present 55 miles to about 70 miles, Weise said. He added that the signal may extend beyond this radius at certain

The Mailman's Corner

Past 40? Is Pace 'Killing' You?

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Are you past 40, and does the thought often come to you, "This pace is killing me?"

Do you have an executive job where you are under constant pressure to produce, or "get out?"

TODAY, FOR skilled labor, the market is wide open. For the technician, the mechanic, the factory laborer, there are Help Wanted signs on every factory door. This is a time of peak employment, and high pay; and the age factor, though there is an increasing inclination to hang out the "men under forty" sign, is not nearly so prevalent as among executives.

If you are an executive over forty, better hang on to that job until you reach the age when you will be pensioned off, unless you are one of those indispensible men who are always in demand. For an executive over forty and out of work today has to talk fast and long to get a job commanding the income he has been used to, especially if he is in the $10,000 class or up. Colleges are graduating young men drilled in the latest methods in industry and business, willing to start for less, and many companies want new blood full of pep and energy who can be trained in current company policy. They feel that older men lack the energy, mental versatility and imagination that youngsters have which, in an age of constant change, and intense competition, is necessary.

IF YOU ARE past forty and feel you are slipping on the job, better look around for a little business of your own that won't demand so much from you. Cut down living costs and frills, laying up extra cash for the day when a younger man will be sitting at your desk; when the boss says "Well, now, Jones is 45 and slowing down — better replace him with a younger man. Put him in a department where not too much is expected of him, at a lower salary."

And if you are a young man, start now to save for a rainy day, which may come sooner than you think. It's a long time between 40 or 50 and social security. (B12

Coulter left Chicago's Midway Airport aboard TWA's direct Paris flight August 21 and returns to Chicago via a Northwest Orient flight September 22. (B10

The Way We See It

Democratic 'Rift' Fails To Interest Suburbanites

There's a family rift developing in Wheeling township's Democratic organization. The boys are beginning to vie over who's going to sit at the head of the table.

Downtown political pundits (and most punditing about suburban politics is done downtown) opine that Wheeling's upheaval is the first of several to come in northwest townships.

The pundits think next spring's Democratic primary in Wheeling township is going to be a whingding since apparently everyone wants a stab at Jack Clark's seat as committeeman. There are rumblings about similar "uprisings" in other northwest townships.

John T. Jarecki, son of former County Judge Edmund T. Jarecki, has already announced "unofficially" that he's available for the job. Among other names most frequently mentioned as possible contenders are John Hoover of Arlington Heights; Justice of the Peace Walter P. Dahl; James Stavros of Wheeling, and William McNeil of Arlington Heights.

It seems suburban Democrats are in need of "new vigor."

Pardon the suburbanite while he yawns. He's been through this "new vigor" routine before. He knows it's usually meaningless. He knows that when all the preliminary oratory has died away, the same old tired faces end up saying and doing the same old tired things that make partisan politics so dreadfully dull in the suburbs.

It reminds us of 2 old men feebly grappling in the center of an empty arena.

Thus far, the talk of "new vigor" among suburban Democrats has sounded more like the Morrison hotel crowd trying to get out the vote on Chicago's South Side. It's been a question of patronage, influence, organization, precinct captains, and favoritism.

With this approach, the "new vigor" is doomed to shrivel before it blossoms.

The profesionals apparently can't face the fact suburbanites are now better informed and better equipped to make independent political decisions. They insult the intelligence of voters by declining to debate and discuss public questions. They offend the suburbanite by chatting vagaries and attacking personalities and thus exhibiting a lack of community responsibility and sense of public service.

Suburban problems are disregarded by both parties, issues pertinent to country towns are glossed over, and legislative attention is centered on areas not considered "in the bag" on Election Day.

An honest revival of the 2-party system is certainly needed in the suburbs. Most voters welcome sincere attempts for legitimate, intelligent discussions of public questions.

But the "old men" of both parties are still calling the plays in the competition for suburban support. And it's going to take more than a shot of oratory to fill that empty arena.

It pays to advertise in your paper. Last August 1 listed and sold all of our baby equipment through your classified section. Our daughter was 7 years old, and I didn't want to pack it up again. Discipline: Teacher Headache

About this time every year, school teacher contracts are being reviewed. The newspapers and radios blare both the remarks, "Teachers are underpaid and if not paid more will quit."

Parhaps some are. But the real reasons for quitting are never told. The number 1 headache these days is discipline.

Why does a teacher have to be subjected to abuse from lack of home discipline in children? And when attempts are made at school to discipline them, the parents descend their angry wrath upon the poor teacher. No amount of money can make a person stay and take this.

The lawmakers seem vaguely aware of this and not much effort is devoted to help the teacher who took this profession because of a desire to love children and try to make good citizens of them.

The papers are full of stories of school gangs and how they beat teachers, and carry knives. Yet what has been done to trace this back to the homes and get at the root of evil?

Hundreds of teachers love their work and more will follow to take their places if only the people back home will co-operate and give them "peace of mind" while they are on the job—which is not only from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., but every hour of the day and week.

Original Fears Restored

Now that the initial cougar scare is over, I have been steeling myself for a visit to Arlington Heights to see my brother-in-law, who is home on furlough.

Pioneer Park Parking Puzzle

Why is it that Arlington Heights village board permitted the park district to build the new Pioneer park without providing for adequate parking space within the park to accomodate the cars anticipated. Seems their concern for children, so piously exhibited by the recent sidewalk situation, should not exclude those whose homes are on streets which now face or will face Pioneer Park, namely, Fairview, Kennicott, Grove and Fernandez.

Why must the park board wait until some child or 2 is killed as a result of the hazardous condition they have created before they realize their shortsightedness?

The parking space planed by them along these streets is illegal, impractical and admittedly lacked a permit until last Tuesday. Surely the park will be no less beautiful or less appreciated if some of the dead space behind the swimming pool, swings and tennis courts were occupied by cars which transported the children to the park.

From observation North Park has "No Parking" signs on three streets except that which is occupied by industry. Why can't we get the same consideration?

Solution to Hospital Problem?

Northwest suburbs now have an opportunity to solve their hospital problem. The Jesuit Society is seeking a suburban location for a $10 million hospital which will have between 650 and 750 beds. The society has already rejected a proposed Glenview location because the village would not rezone adjacent area to prohibit industry from locating next to the hospital site.

The Jesuits are ready to build; they have the money in hand. All they need is the land upon which to erect the hospital.

It seems to me the sensible thing for us to do is take the money we have already raised for a community hospital in this area and buy a 40-acre plot for the Jesuits. In return, we will have a hospital 3 times the size of the proposed community hospital — which more nearly meets the hospital need of this area. In addition, we will eliminate any problem of maintenance or staffing.

Northwest neighborhoods in Chicago, Niles, and Park Ridge did the same thing—and they have Resurrection hospital to show for it.

I think the possibilities of working out an arrangement with the Jesuits should be investigated immediately. The advantages are too obvious to ignore.

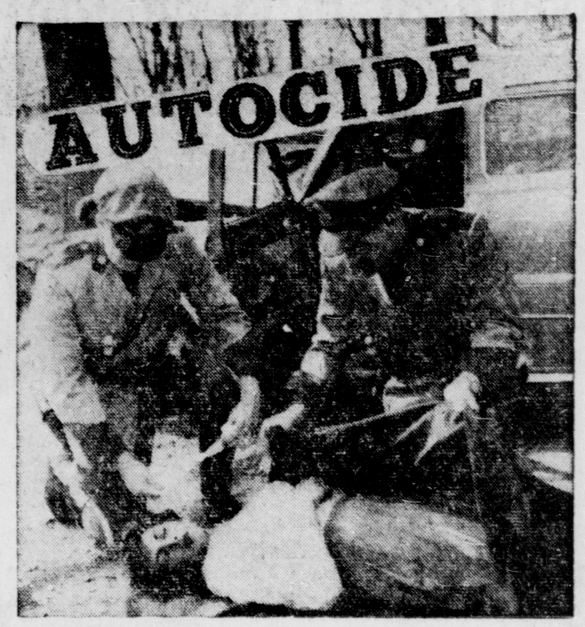
No-Fix Ticket System

By
ARTHUR T. VANDERBILT
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey



(This is another in a series of articles compiled under the direction of the Institute for Safer Living and is offered by Paddock Publications as a public service to its readers. —The Editor.)

The courts having jurisdiction over violations of our traffic laws, play an important part in the concentrated efforts now being made to increase the safety of our streets and highways.

Last year, of the approximately 70 million licensed drivers to this country, some 20 million were ticketed for alleged violations.

THE TRAFFIC COURTS, coming as they do in direct contact with such a large percentage of the population, have become by all odds the most important courts in our judicial system. On them rests the primary responsibility for developing in our citizenry that respect for law which lies at the very foundation of effective traffic law enforcement and on which in the last analysis all of our democratic institutions depend.

It is therefore difficult to understand why in many jurisdictions so little attention has been given to the traffic courts and why every proven device to increase their stature and effectiveness has not been utilized.

Perhaps the most common and damnifying criticism of traffic courts has been that so many people have found it possible to evade answering a traffic summons by the well-known political process of having it 'fixed" so that the matter will never come up in court.

IN A NATION-WIDE survey of traffic courts made a number of years ago, unquestioned evidence of ticket fixing was found in 39 out of 76 cities covered. In one out of every 4 cities visited, the lag in traffic law enforcement was directly traceable to this insidious practice.

Generally tickets are fixed without the knowledge of the police officer who served the summons or of the judge who should have heard the case. How it is done is one of the mysteries of modern American life, known only to the politically initiated.

It is a vice, however, that is readily cured, as has been demonstrated in New Jersey, by the use of a simple uniform non - fixable traffic violations ticket.

THE POLICE OFFICER makes out the ticket in quadruplicate with the aid of carbon paper. The original goes to the police headquarters, one is retained by the police officer who made it out, and one is handed to the offender. All books of tickets are issued to law enforcement officers by the court and must be accounted for.

This kind of tickets cannot be fixed without the active aid of 3 public officials—the judge, the police chief, and the issuing officer. After weighing the slim chances of success against the very real dangers of failure, few offenders consider it worth while even to try.

The introduction in New Jersey of the uniform nonfixing traffic ticket by rule court was violently opposed by many police chiefs and some prominent citizens, but significantly not by the policemen.

ODDLY, DESPITE its demonstrated success and the endorsement and support of the Conference of Chief Justices, the Conference of Governors, and the American Bar Association, as well as many other organizations interested in promoting traffic safety through the improvement of traffic law enforcement, the uniform nonfixable traffic ticket has not caught fire.

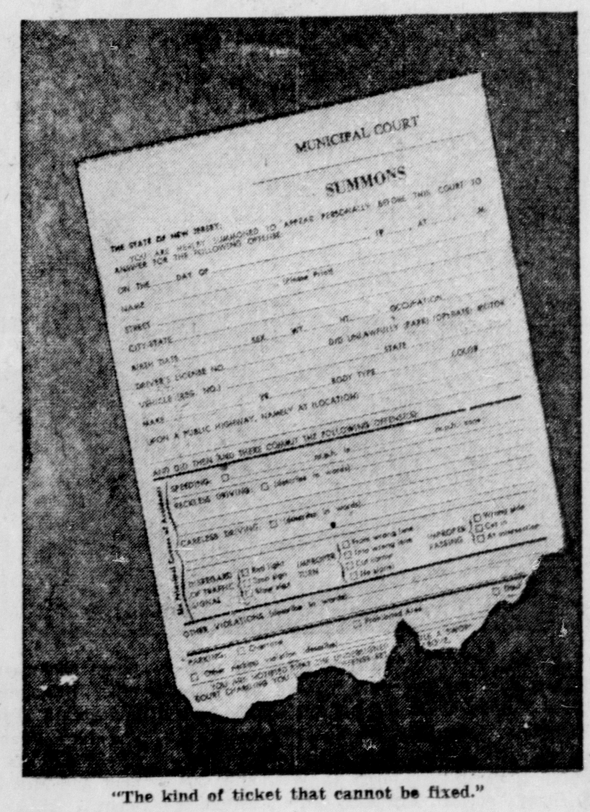
New Jersey is the only state where its use on a statewide basis has been mandatory, although it is in a large part of New York, many cities in Michigan and in scattered cities in some 25 other states.

The time has long since arrived when every city and state should put an end once and for all to the vicious practice of ticket fixing. The means are at hand. All that is now needed is the will to do something about it and a day or two of courage while the beneficiaries of the old order are bewailing their loss.

70 million licensed drivers . . . 20 million ticketed for alleged violations

Scofflaws are responsible for a large percentage of accidents.

Will this driver succeed in fixing a ticket?



"The kind of ticket that cannot be fixed."

Carolyn Clesen Weds Kenneth F. Goodman

Yellow mums and white carnations decorated St. Mary church in Buffalo Grove July 13 for a double ring ceremony in which Miss Carolyn Clesen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clesen, 611 S. Wolf rd., Wheeling, and Kenneth F. Goodman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Goodman Sr. of Barrington, were united in marriage. The Rev. George Ballweber officiated at the 1:30 p.m. service during which Mr. Clesen gave his daughter in marriage.

The ceremony was followed by a dinner at 5 p.m. in the Wheeling Amvet hall and an 8:30 reception for 350 guests.

For her marriage the bride wore a gown of embroidered lace with tulle and satin skirt ending in a cathedral train. Her illusion veil was held in place with a pearl tiara and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Miss Corinne Clesen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Diane Schram of Highland Park and Mrs. Mable Bauer, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore gowns with lace over taffeta bodices and nylon over taffeta skirts. They were in rainbow colors of yellow, blue and pink, respectively.

The bridegroom's sister, 4½-year-old Mary Lou Goodman, was flower girl and wore a yellow gown to match the maid of honor's gown. Her flowers were white daisies.

The bride's mother wore a blue nylon gown with white accessories while the bridegroom's mother wore a white lace over blue taffeta. Both wore pink rose corsages.

The public is invited. Refreshments and meals will be served by volunteer workers from all Chicago area churches.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Touring the North Woods

Dear Peg:

I have heard northern Michigan called the "little Ireland" of our country. Although I've never seen Ireland, I can imagine that this section of the state, with its rolling green hillsides and lush woods, its many emerald colored inland lakes and hidden trout streams, resembles the lovely island across the sea.

This is a peaceful part of the country, a quiet and in places lonely part of the country. Primarily a resort area it's like no other resort area. The people who spend each summer at their favorite place have been coming here for years and often have grandchildren visiting them, who will grow up and come back every summer as their parents did.

The towns are quaint — often a street still paved with old bricks, winds up a hill and past one of the many 3-story frame Victorian houses, with their verandas and white wicker furniture. The towns are charming and colorful too—black wire baskets filled with white petunias, vivid geraniums and vines hang suspended from curved lamp posts along the streets.

On the outskirts of a town there may be a roadside stand selling bouquets of gladioli or nosegays of button geraniums and corn flowers. And the towns are touched with elegance. Inside the narrow doorways of tiny shops, often nestled between Indian curio stores, you may find expensive jewelry, little furs or perhaps imported objects of art. These are the little shops that spring open for one brilliant season then, with the first sign of fall, shutter their doors until summer comes again.

Our favorite spot in northern Michigan is not one of the jewel-like inland lakes, but rather on the Little Traverse Bay of Lake Michigan. Here, sprawling between a forest of scented pine and a beach of pale yellow sand are the Inn and cottages of the Menonaqua Beach Club, the haven so wearily but happily reached Thursday after our long trip from Wisconsin.

Ronnie Fenton, always thoughtful and considerate of his guests, met us inside the Inn and seeing that we were tired and hot took us into the cool and quiet card room for a refreshing drink and pleasant re-acquainting chat. How lucky we were to be given another room with an enchanting view! Through our bedroom windows we could see the bay, lying like a half-moon shaped sapphire between Harbor Point and Charlevoix. The sun was about to be swallowed up somewhere out in the middle of the lake and the sky was already beginning to change and shift colors as it prepared for its nightly "spectacular."

Here for 4 days, with our good friends, Virginia and Howard Carroll, we sunned, swam, played golf, motor-boated and water-skiied and on one special night took Mr. Armstrong's (Virginia's father) sleek white "Cutty Sark" out into the middle of the bay. There with the motor off we sat and chatted, watching the twinkling lights of the shoreline and the star-filled sky. Along the horizon, Virginia pointed out the Northern Lights to us and as we watched, the dim flashing tongues of these unusual reflections grew brighter—a thrilling sight!

Wistfully, we left Menonaqua and the friendly people who play and work there and, with a promise to Ronnie to return next year, headed for Indianapolis and Nana to see and bring home Megan, Bridget and Patrick.

My love,
Patty.

Travelers' Habits Rooted in Psyche

by MARY

I should like to have a whack at psychology. I mean I should like to make a study of it. Trouble is I don't know whether to take up abnormal psychology as pitted against normal. Frankly, I don't even know the difference.

I suppose ab psych is the probing of minds that are just a touch wacky. As this takes in practically everyone I know, including me, it would seem that this is my dish of tea.

What started me off on the mind probing kick was pondering the way people catch trains. Or some other kind of public transportation. It seems that I have 2 relatives who just love to swing on moving vehicles. They like it to the point of endangering life and limb.

FOR INSTANCE. One of these relations, learning that he had 15 minutes till train time, decided to eat a 5-course meal, get his shoes shined, and browse through the magazines on the stand. The train, not realizing just how he felt about it, decided to pull out on time. This makes for spirited running down the tracks and a nice athletic leap through space to grab the last car.

What fun, the 2 say, to arrive at one's seat puffing and panting. How gay the color of their faces as every little red corpuscle rushes in glee to try to get out of the pores on their faces. This sort of action, deriving satisfaction of showing a train just who is boss, certainly must denote some type of psychological twist.

However, take me and others like me. And, I don't care what anyone says there are too others like me. I am the type who leaves 5 hours before train time. This is only sensible as anyone can see at a glance. Traffic these days is fierce, tires have been known to go flat and anyway that old train might take it into its head to leave early trying to set some sort of record.

NOW LET'S ANALYZE these 2 divergent approaches to the problem of getting on a train. Type A is obviously insecure. Furthermore he likes being insecure. In fact he is so insecure that some day he is going to miss that last step on the moving train and fall flat on his red face.

Type B is just as obviously well adjusted, cautions, full of appreciation of the good things of life such as breathing and perfectly cognizant of the fact that there are rules that must be followed. Perhaps, even anticipated a little. Type B will probably never miss a train. But, the seats in the waiting rooms are quite hard. Cause sort of cramps in the legs due to lack of circulation.

Is it better to be redfaced and panting or tottering?

Here's When Couple Must Consult Marriage Counselor

When should a couple consult a marriage counselor?

One of the nations' Past Presidents of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, Dr. Robert W. Laidlow now chief psychiatrist at New York's Roosevelt hospital) gave some forthright answers to this question recently at a talk at the North Shore hospital, Winnetka, on their annual lecture series: "Toward Healthy Emotional Development."

AT THE EARLIEST breach in marriage relationships, a marriage counselor should be contacted insists Dr. Laidlow. He gave highlights of problem marriages deserving early attention:

—unstable from the beginning, often because of hurried engagement; no opportunity before marriage of ascertaining whether partners were ready for marriage and truly compatible.

—basic compatibility exists, but through ignorance, reticence or just plain bungling, a sexual maladjustment has arisen threatening the marriage.

—one spouse fallen out of love with the other, even though a degree of sexual compatibility remains.

—one partner is over-domineering and demanding; peace maintained only by complete submissiveness and appeasement by other partner.

—threatened by shadow of interfering "in-laws."

—complicated by existence of racial, cultural or religious differences between partners.

—conflict of career versus home is an outstanding issue.

—conflict centers around having children or methods of upbringing.

—those marriages which if left to themselves would terminate in divorce; being kept intact as social facade for sake of children.

Dr. Laidlow stressed that the counselor will often encounter marriages in which one partner is normal, the other a psychiatric problem. In such cases he urges the counselor to work only with the normal spouse referring the other to a psychiatrist.

HE EXPLAINED that marriage counselors need be specially trained and that being a physician does not automatically qualify one for this role. He mentioned that many difficulties are encountered in counseling other than sexual ones.

Dr. Laidlow indicated frequently counselors encounter marriages which have reached a point of "no return." In these cases, the counselor still has an important role, he insists — to assist in working out a plan for separation and divorce in a mutually considerate manner. "Care should be exercised to circumvent the usual acrimonious tension between the two separating partners and strive for an equitable agreement for each party while lessening disturbing impact on children or other members of the family close to the situation," he said.

He pointed out that "the laws regarding divorce stress legal rights rather than equitable human values and the counselor can, to some degree, minimize this deficency."

DR. LAIDLOW concluded:

—"If succeeding generations are to become progressively wiser and more mature in their interpersonal relationships, each generation must be helped to get off to a better start. This means a more fully and realistically oriented education-particularly in sex education—for children.

—"In talking to patients, counselors should encourage all parents to become more adept in orienting their children toward healthy sexual development ... too much of an atmosphere of silence or condemnation toward sexual matters pervades a child's early home environments today causing later marriage splitups in adulthood.

—"There is no substitute for the feeling of warmth and security that comes to a child from knowing that any question he may ask will be openly and understandingly answered by his parents. Non-neurotic parents readily grasp principles of sound sex education, put them into practice. This is forward-looking mental hygiene; this is truly preventive medicine."

Food Sense--Not Nonsense

Who's Barking up the Wrong Tree?

Weight watchers and dieters who sit down on the job of living are barking up the wrong tree. Some outstanding scientists have tracked down the principal cause of overweight—lack of activity—at work and at play.

This underactivity is robbing adults and children alike of their favorite pastime — eating. According to these nutritionists, overeating no longer is considered the first cause of obesity, America's foremost health menace. These scientists have found that creeping overweight follows lessened activity.

Recently, a Harvard University study emphasized an alarming trend: Suburban high school girls, on the whole, are not active. Researchers compared two groups of these girls. One group was obese, the other, of normal weight. They noted that girls of normal weight spent twice as much time in some type of physical activity, which included dancing—and they ate more—than did their obese classmates. Later at summer camp, when girls in both groups were under strenuous routines, all lost weight, in spite of eating more than they did before. This fact refutes the tale that added activity increases appetite to such an extent that a gain in weight results.

The role of exercise in weight control has been abused. Statements, such as "You must walk rapidly for six hours to lose one pound," also can mean a brisk one-hour walk on six days.

Dieters who unwittingly reduce their requirements for food by a continuous sit-down program are barking up the wrong tree. Through constant restriction of different foods, they inflict a life-long state of mild hunger upon themselves. In contrast, an active life, with regular exercise, permits the enjoyment of normal meals which include plenty of enriched bread and cereals, fruits and vegetables, meat and milk—all foods needed by the body.

FOOT SAVING EDUCATION

by Jack H. Kotz

Are shoes that are outgrown by one child safe for another?

Yes and No. The accepted reason for not using handed-down shoes is that the foot defects of the first child can be inflicted on the second. This is true.

But if the first user had normal feet, isn't his good wear-pattern just as likely to encourage good foot function? It is.

When the budget is hurting it is a lot safer to use brother's cast-offs than to cramp feet in his own outgrown shoes.

In The Shadow Of The Steeple

A Small Farm in Georgia Creates Community Turmoil

A small farm in Georgia has been much in the news lately. It is the Koinonia Farm near Americus Ga. Koinonia is practically under siege because some people in Americus and in Sumter County accuse it of being "communistic" and of "mixing the races."

The members of this community, probably never more than 60 including men, women and children, assert that their is not primarily an interracial association, not even an economic association, but a Christian church.

THEY STATE their purpose: "We wish to make known our total, unconditional commitment to seek ,express and expand the Kingdom of God as revealed in Jesus Christ, being convinced that the community of believers who make a life commitment is the continuing body of Jesus on earth." All of the members accept this commitment.

Each member of the community agrees to the following statement: 'I joyfully enter into a love union with the Koinonia and gladly submit myself to it, looking to it to guide me in the knowledge of God's will and strengthen me in the pursuit of it."

The church believes that it is properly following out the religious liberty which is guaranteed under the Constitution. They also believe it is a Christian duty to cherish that right of religious fredeom and to exercise it.

ON THE SURFACE, there seems little to differentiate Kiononia from a great many other utopian "colonies of heaven" which have appeared in America. One thinks of the "Pennsylvania Dutch," the Amana colony, New Harmony, the early Mormons and many others.

History suggests that nothing strengthens these communities so much as persecution. Many of the important convictions of America's religious life have grown out of such colonies.

BUT KOINONIA has attracted gunfire, arson, bombings, terrorism.

Its pacifist members seem harmless as doves. They seem to have done little more than pioneer in large-scale egg production — so that now, Sumter county leads all counties in Georgia in eggs marketed.

They have been helpful to sharecroppers, both in the distribution of charity (for they hold all possessions in common) and in the improvement of farming methods.

Like most New Testament churches, Koinonia has no church building, no ministers, no board, reports to no bishop. Their existence is precarious, but they have a capacity for survival. They gather several times a week for worship and prayer, especially when the group is preparing to make decisions.

LIKE THE NEW Testament churches, Koinonia is considered heretical by "normal" practioneers of religion. Normal people think the members of Koinonia are poor, misfits, misguided idealists — "Odd-shaped stones which the builders of 20th century conformist society have rejected." They probably are, but very few of us seriously think that 20th century society is all that the good Lord has conceived as wise and good for human relations.

The problem is that any questing individual or group is, inevitably, a judgment upon a satisfied individual or group.

We like to comfort ourselves with the thought that we are right and good, to ignore our own shortcomings; so that, wherever idealists among us actually strive to live according to their ideals, we tend to resent the implication that we are not living by the ideals we profess. A repressed sense of guilt refuses to stay repressed.

INTERESTINGLY, Koinonia no longer has any insurance program. No insurance company will insure a property that is under more or less constant attack. Many concerned Christians are promising to participate in the Brotherhood Insurance plan."

This means that they will share in the cost of property damage at Koinonia, property damage, that is, which is the result of arson or mob fire by elements in Georgia society seeking to terrorize the "misguided" Christians at Koinonia Farm. (B12

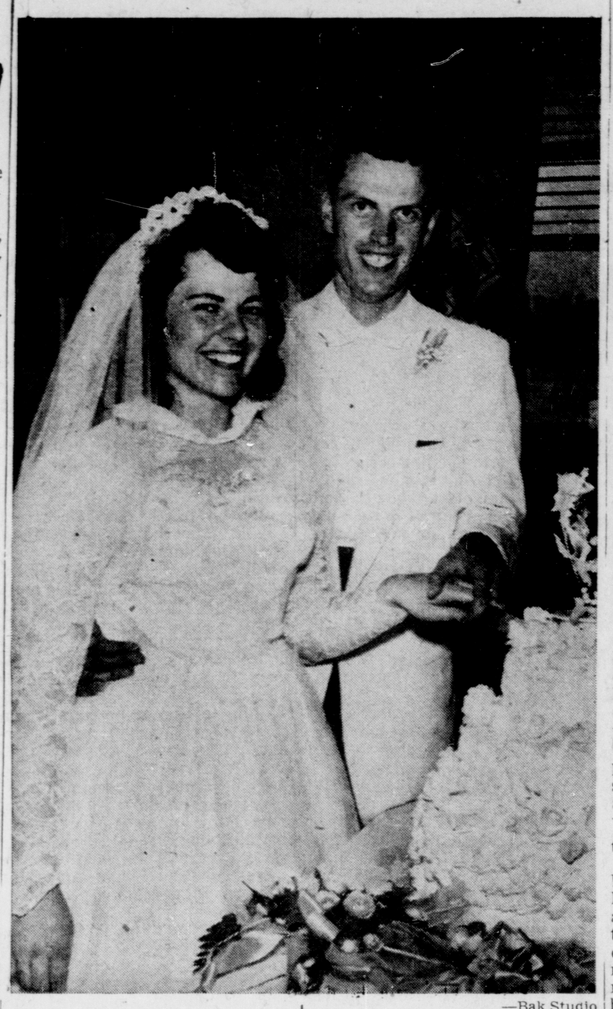
Patricia Boyd Is Now Mrs. Bruce Graham



—Bak Studio

Bouquets of pink and white carnations on the altar of St. Peter Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights, formed the background for a double wedding ceremony August 3 in which Miss Patricia Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Boyd, 1720 N. Rand rd., Arlington Heights, became the bride of Bruce Graham, son of William Graham, 1611 N. George st., Arlington Heights.

Rev. Stephan officiated with Mr. Herman as organist and Irene Hayford as soloist. Selections were "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her marriage, the bride wore a chantilly lace gown over satin fashioned floor-length with long pointed sleeves and Queen Anne collar trimmed with sequins and pearls. Her circular elbow-length veil was held in place with a tiara of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade of white carnations and lilies of the valley with an orchid center corsage. Mr. Boyd gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Walter Sutherland of Aurora was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Pricilla Graham, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Mary Ann Fredricksen, Miss Rose Cornforth and Miss Marilyn Warga, all of Arlington Heights. The matron of honor wore an ice pink dress of pink lace over pink taffeta. The bridesmaids were in similar dresses of ice blue, tied in back with butterfly bows on the ballerina skirts.

The bridegroom's niece, Candy Lee Asmussen of Prospect Heights, was flower girl and wore a dress of lace and nylon taffeta to match the bridesmaids' dresses. Their headpieces were pink rose buds and they carries pink roses in pink fans. The matron of honor carried a blue fan with pink roses.

Ringbearer was Steven Dan of Island Lake.

Paul Haupt of Arlington Heights was best man and ushers were Anthony Heiberger of Maywood, Walter Sutherland of Aurora, brother-in-law of the bride, Daniel Graham and John Graham, brothers of the bridegroom, both of Arlington Heights.

A reception for 225 guests was held in Arlington American Legion hall immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Boyd received in a white brocaded dress complemented with a corsage of pink roses.

The couple honeymooned in the Wisconsin Dells and are now residing in Arlington Heights. (Bak Studio

Bargains Galore for Holiday Shoppers at Community Fair

New and used items of all types will be features of the white elephant booth at the Community Fair, October 11 and 12, with "bargains galore" for pre-Christmas shoppers or patrons seeking collector's items.

Sponsored by the Northwest Community hospital women's auxiliary, funds raised during the 2-day sale will be used for the new hospital emergency room. The fair will be held in Arlington Heights fieldhouse.

"No rummage" is the watchword for the white elephant booth being used by Mrs. A. C. Peters of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Robert LaReviere of Roselle, chairman and vice-chairman of the booth.

In speaking of the white elephant items now on hand for the sale and still being sought from auxiliary members, Mrs. Peters stressed the "white elephants" were "items which gave pleasure to someone and could still give pleasure to others." Among items mentioned by Mrs. Peters were new pieces of clothing which had never been worn because of incorrect size, or antiques not used by their owners but real "finds" for collectors.

Items for sale at the white elephant booth are being collected in various communities by women's auxiliary members.

Auxiliary members or the general public wishing to donate items for the white elephant booth are asked to contact these women: In Roselle or Schaumburg township: Mrs. Robert LaReviere, TW 4-6431; Palatine township: Mrs. John J. Johnston, FL 9-1748; Prospect Heights: Mrs. Clyde C. Schuetz, CL 3-2989; Mt. Prospect: Mrs. Harvey H. Hoffman, CL 3-6416; Arlington Hts.: Mrs. Wilbur N. Simpson, CL 3-3287; Mrs. A. C. Jeffrey, CL 3-3086 or Mrs. A. C. Peters, CL 3-2000.

Based on an early-American county-fair theme, the auxiliary sale will feature booths selling plants, infants' wear, toys, aprons, jewelry, food, and art work. A bouquet booth and a Christmas booth will also be open.

General chairman of the Community Fair is Mrs. William T. Hines, 216 Drury lane, Arlington Heights. (S

Hungarians Free Women From Tight-Fitting Sheath

Those magnificent Hungarians. In their courageous fight for freedom last fall they unwittingly liberated the American woman from her tight-fitting sheath.

For by suddenly focusing world-wide attention on the issue of freedom, even the Paris designers became inspired to start a little fashion revolution all their own.

Thus was born the new freedom line — hailed by Paris and feverishly copied in New York. It seems only fitting that it should be supported by La Liberte, the new freedom-giving girdle being introduced May 15.

OF GOSSAMER weight so like the filmy chiffons, georgettes, and fluid jerseys which are such a vital part of the "freedom line," La Liberte is a far cry from the medieval trusses many modern women still wear in the name of support.

For once, there are no bones, rivets, laces, or boilerplates to impede circulation or impair breathing.

Fashion decrees that the line be free, the look soft, and the silhouette relaxed. La Liberte fill the bill ingeniously, accenting the round curves and true contours. At the same time, seam-free edges at top and bottom prevent chafing.

THE NEW GIRDLE'S sides and back are of Ban-Lon and lastex PowAire fabric fashioned by Vassarette on its own exclusive knitting machines. The front panel of elasticized batiste provides unusual control for its weight. Blue cross-stitching highlights this portion of the garment. Both pantie and girdle come with detachable garters.

The pantie is ideally suited to wear under slacks, shorts, or even swimming togs since it has been especially designed not to ride up.

ALTHOUGH DESTINED for year-round control, La Liberte will act almost like a built-in air-conditioner during summer months as a result of its cool, light construction.

Both girdle and pantie are in the $3.95 price range and available in black as well as such bon-bon colors as white, pink and blue. Sizes are petite, small, medium and large.

Available after May 15 at department and specialty stores everywhere. (S

Sparkling Color Style For Home Furnishings

Strong, sparkling colors will highlight the newest colors in home furnishings.

Leading this modern trend will be blues and violets, yellow-golds, and exciting oranges, according to predictions in the August issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

Clear, cool blues and violets running from icy pale to brilliant deep are the choice of one noted interior designer, Edward Wormley. He prefers a variety of shades from quiet light tones to vivid dark ones, all with a "stained glass" quality.

THESE COLORS can be used in a family room with turquoise floor, plastic counter tops in violet, and chairs striped in 2 tones of blue, the magazine says. Or, do a bedroom with turquois carpet, striped blue spread, accent pillows of violet, curtains of white or pale rose-violet, and doors of gray-brown walnut.

With golden, glowing yellows, designer Everett Brown believes in keeping them simple. Since the power and purity of the yellow-golds make them naturally dominant, it is best to let them hold sway, not confuse the effect with distracting contrasts.

The article suggests using yellow on the floor and wall to unify a dining room or hall that is cut up by doorways, or to add sunshine to a dark room. If you adapt this to a small bedroom, use a small patterned wallpaper.

THE PROBLEM of using orange, according to expert Lawrence Peabody, is a particularly exciting one. Orange has the rare ability, so delightful to designers, both to stand out itself and bring out the best in other colors. A room sparkling with orange is bright even on the dullest day.

As for compatible colors, all the citrus shades and most flower colors are naturals with it. Remember that orange works best in simple surroundings, so perhaps the most flattering setting is a plain white background. This allows the orange tones to be big and bold, and makes the most of wood tones and shapely accessories. Orange would be a striking change for a living or dining room furnished with traditional dark mahogany, the magazine says. (S

PRODUCTIVE LAND, GOOD PASTURE WITH CREEK

This farm is what we would call a real combination farm. We mean by that this farm is suited for milking cows, feeding cattle, raising hogs or simply grain farming. There is about 200 acres under cultivation at the present time. With a little additional drainage, another 85 to 90 could be brought under cultivation. There is a bulk cooler included at no additional cost. Good large farm home with furnace, bath, etc. The barns are in good repair and can be used for milking, or, if you prefer, you could remove the stanchions and use them for feeder cattle or hogs. This farm is attractively priced at only $168 per acre or $51,500.

Area Herd In Top 10 In State

Cook county had one of the state's 10 highest producing herds in the dairy herd improvement test for June reports Farm Adviser Carl F. Mees. Rolling Acres No. 2, Elgin, whose herd of 29 registered Guernseys, averaged 1,091 pounds of milk and 52.9 pounds of butterfat per cow, ranked 7th in fat production among the 1,678 herds in test in Illinois during the month.

The state average for June is 891 pounds of milk and 33.4 pounds of fat per cow. Rolling Acres No. 2 is a member of the Cook County Dairy Herd Improvement association No. 1. (Fm

U.S. Sow Bred To Norway Boar

Animal scientists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture have artificially bred sows in Maryland with boar semen collected in Norway.

Semen samples were collected and processed daily and flown to the USDA'S Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Md., over a 15-day period last December. In each case from 30 to 40 hours elapsed from the time the semen was collected until the sows were inseminated.

Results of the experiment show that boar semen treated with diluters can be successfully shipped long distances. Other experimentation in artificial insemination in swine and processing boar semen for storage is going on at the Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin and Cornell agricultural experiment stations.

Of the 24 sows artificially inseminated in the Beltsville experiment, 11 or 46 per cent farrowed litters of strong, healthy pigs. Average litter size was 9.2 pigs farrowed and 7.4 or 80 per cent were alive at 21 days of age. Survival rate on other pigs normally produced the same season at Beltsville averaged 83.6 per cent in pigs weaned at 56 days of age.

Researchers working with artificial swine insemination at the University of Illinois have achieved a 50 to 60 per cent average conception rate on 160 sows during the last 9 months. They are now looking for a better carrier for the semen, the correct volume to use and the number of sperm needed for the highest conception rate. They have kept semen alive and fertile in their carrier for as long as 10 days. (Fm

2 Illinoisans Feed Survey Members

S. W. Terrill and K. E. Gardner will be representatives of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture on the 1957 feed survey committee of the American Feed Manufacturers association.

The committee meets Oct. 24 and 25 in Chicago to develop production trends for each type of livestock and poultry during the coming year and the balance between feed use and supply.

Terrill, head of the swine division in the Department of Animal Science, will chairman the swine sub-committee. Gardner, head of the feeding and nutrition division in the Department of Dairy Science will serve as a member of the dairy sub-committee.

AFMA has sponsored similar groups of university staff members to forecast these trends every year since 1942. They will meet first at their October session to summarize the national situation in general and then divide into sub-committees to develop the specific data on each type of livestock and poultry. Crop Prospects Improve, Soybeans Near '56 Level

by L. H. SIMERL

The nation's crop prospects improved considerably in July, and further gains were made in early August. The all-crop production index on August 1 stood at 103, only 3 points below the record of 106 reached last year.

The prospective production of total feed grains is about equal to last year's tonnage. Larger crops of oats, barley, and sorghum grains are offsetting the cut in corn output.

THE CORN CROP came along very fast after a late start in many areas. As of August 1 the corn crop was estimated at 3,066 million bushels. This estimate is 2 per cent more than the July forecast, but 11 per cent below the 10-year average. Crop and weather reports in the first half of August indicate further improvement in the crop. (Illinois, Indiana, and Missouri suffered the greatest cuts in corn).

The oats crop is estimated at 1,361 million bushels, 18 per cent more than last year, and 3 per cent more than average. (Iowa and South Dakota have bumper crops).

BARLEY PRODUCTION is forecast at 432 million bushels. This is 16 per cent more than last year, 48 per cent more than average, and would exceed the previous record crop of 429 million bushels produced in 1942. (California, North Dakota, and Montana are the big 3 in barley growing. Soil bank money boosted the acreage of barley).

The production of sorghum grain is forecast at 418 million bushels. This output is a new record high, more than double last year's output, and more than 2½ times the 10-year average. (Texas and Kansas are the big 2 in sorghum grain production. Soil bank money paid for increases in the acreage of sorghum grain).

The 1957 soybean crop is forecast at 428 million bushels. This would be the first crop in 4 years not to set a new record. It would be 6 per cent less than the official preliminary estimate of the 1956 crop made last December, but that estimate is likely to be scaled down 3 or 4 per cent when final figures are set next December. Thus if the 1957 crop improves a little it may well be nearly as large as the 1956 crop.

There will be only a few million bushels of old beans on hand by October 1. Thus the total supply of beans for the 1957-58 marketing year may be about the same as in this year 1956-57. (Fm

Healthy Berries Need Attention

If you want healthy and productive berries next year, there are a few simple things that you will want to do this fall.

On raspberries, you should remove and burn all the old canes that bore fruit this season. They may have already begun to die, but if they haven't, they will soon. These canes carry disease and the sooner they can be removed from the patch, the better off the younger plants are.

You'll also be ahead to mulch the soil around the plants with sawdust or shavings. This will help hold moisture and keep weeds from growing too.

To keep your rows 3 to 4 feet wide, remove all suckers between rows by cultivating or pulling them out.

On your strawberries, one of the best ways to insure a good patch is to keep it free of weeds. As the runner plants form, space and set them six to eight inches apart.

Keep the row about 18 to 24 inches wide by removing all runners and plants beyond these limits.

For a winter mulch, use good clean straw. It should be free of weed seed to insure a clean patch next year. (Fm

Flies Transmit Germs

There's no doubt that flies are one of nature's most persistent pests. But the damage they do to your disposition is just one result of their many varied activities.

Before summer is over, livestock will be besieged by literally thousands of hornflies, stableflies, horseflies and the like. By biting and by sucking blood, flies lower productivity and can even transmit diseases.

The common housefly, though a non-biter, is capable of spreading filth and disease organisms. It also serves as an intermediate host for some internal parasites.

Dr. N. D. Levine of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine says that an example of serious ailments resulting indirectly from flies is anaplasmosis of cattle. This disease is caused by a tiny parasite spread by horseflies and other blood-sucking insects, as well as by unsterilized dehorners and vaccinating needles.

Once this parasite gets into an animal's bloodstream, it destroys the red blood cells, causes anemia, fever, labored rapid breathing, loss of appetite, pale yellowish skin color, reduced milk production and general weaknss.

Dr. Levine says that there is no preventive vaccine or sure cure for the disease. Up to 50 per cent of older animals infected with anaplasmosis die from it. However, veterinarians can sometimes save infected animals by treating them with whole blood and various antibiotics if called soon enough.

Dr. Levine says that you can wage the best fight against anaplasmosis or any disease spread by flies by "beating them to the punch." He advises disinfecting all equipment when dehorning cattle. Spray properly and often to keep down the number of flies and mosquitoes. Good sanitation is helpful, so eliminate the many breeding places for flies by promptly disposing of manure and properly locating barns and feeding pens for good drainage.

Farmers Dread An Early Frost

"Early frost will do a lot of damage" says our DeKalb reporter from southwestern Minnesota, and that echoes the thinking of most northern areas. The general consensus of opinion is that the corn crop is a week to 10 days behind. However, at DeKalb's Warren plant on the Illinois-Wisconsin line detasseling was finished only 2 days later than in 1956.

But the corn crop is much more irregular in development this year than for a long time. Wet weather and floods caused considerable late planting and replanting which means that fields of corn knee high to waist high could be found in almost any area on August 15.

A PUZZLING problem is to decide what maturity of corn to plant when planting is delayed 2 weeks to a month. DeKalb's research department is conducting trials this year comparing varieties ranging in maturity from 80 to 120 days. This comparison is conducted by planting at dates approximately 10 days apart beginning in early May and ending in late June. There is undoubtedly a time in the planting season when the corn grower should desert his regular varieties of full season maturity and go to something earlier as a protection against frost damage.

Crop reports are quite spotted at mid August. Dry weather is hurting the corn crop in western Iowa, northwestern Missouri, eastern Nebraska and in northwestern Ohio. On the other hand, corn is reported as "excellent" in New York, northern Illinois and southern Michigan.

HAIL IS MORE of a western threat to corn. A million dollar recent loss occurred in LacQui-Parle county in western Minnesota.

Another severe northwestern threat this year is the "aster yellows," a vicious disease doing a great deal of damage to flax in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

WILMINGTON, DEL.—New help to the nation's farmers who grow corn and raise beef cattle was given today in an order from the Food and Drug Administration that greatly broadened the field of application for toxaphene insecticides.

The Food and Drug Administration ruling established for the first time a tolerance for toxaphene in the fat of meat from cattle. This permits feeding beef cattle with corn forage from corn treated with toxaphene for corn borer control. Tolerance levels are set under a new law requiring the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to determine what amounts of pesticide residue can safely be permitted to remain on food crops.

In addition the tolerance of seven parts per million for toxaphene in the fat of meat from cattle, sheep, and goats means these animals can also be sprayed with toxaphene for protection against certain livestock insect pests.

The new regulation further states that the spraying of the animals or the feeding of the animals with toxaphene-treated forage should not take place during the four weeks before slaughter.

In a companion order, the Food and Drug Administration also established a new tolerance of seven parts per million for residues of toxaphene in or on each of the following raw agricultural commodities: cranberries, hazelnuts, hickory nuts, horse-radish, parsnips, pecans, peppers, pimentos, rutabagas, and walnuts.

Toxaphene is one of the most widely used agricultural insecticides and was introduced more than ten years ago by Hercules Powder Company. It is officially recommended by various state and federal agricultural agencies for the control of hundreds of crop and livestock insect pests.

Agricultural Engineer Tells How to Fix Soil, Waterways

Heavy rains this summer have damaged many Illinois sod waterways.

Ralph C. Hay, agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that you'll need to extensively repair your sod waterways if they have been seriously damaged by either erosion or by deposits of silt.

You may need to get heavy earth-moving equipment to haul in earth, manure and straw if water erosion has started a gully in your waterway. You'll also have to plan to reseed a renovated waterway this fall.

In other cases, waterways next to corn and soybean fields may have silted nearly full from runoff water. They will have to be reworked to carry water and also be reseeded.

Heavy rains often cause gullies to form parallel to the waterways in cultivated fields, Hay points out. In that case a bulldozer, scraper and plow usually work best to rebuild the waterway. Use the surplus soil to fill low spots.

September is the best month for reseeding. However, if crops interfere you can still reseed in early spring.

A sediment filled waterway is no better than none at all. If you can't rebuild it right away, it is usually best to plow the whole area, relocate the waterway and build a new one according to standard recommendations, Hay suggests.

You can get full information from University of Illinois Circular 593 "Grass or Gullies." Ask for a copy and get additional help from either your local soil conservation district office or from your county farm adviser. (Fm

Use Care When Spraying Insecticides

Get careless when spraying your livestock with insecticides and you're just asking for trouble.

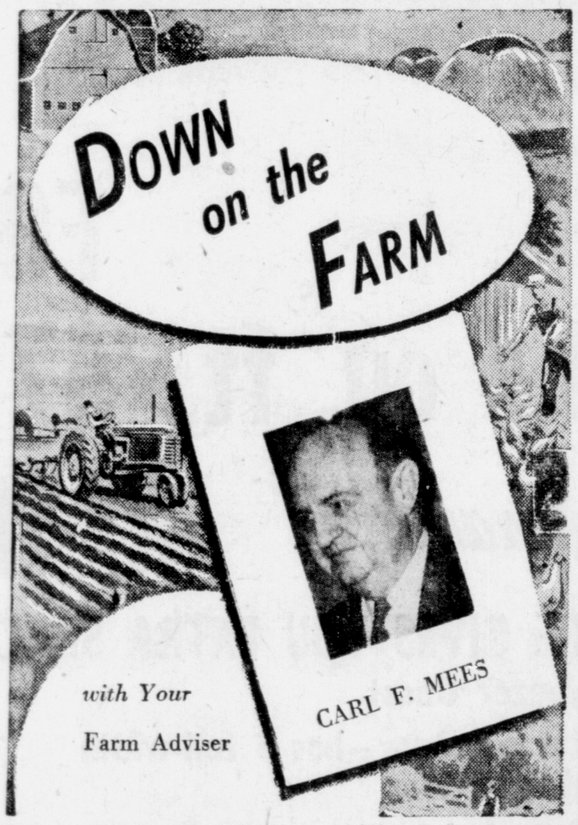
Dr. Richard E. Bradley of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine points out that improper use of insecticides can be dangerous to both the farmer and his animals. There is little danger, however, when insecticides are used at recommended rates for their intended purpose.

Dr. Bradley says that lindane, one of the most commonly used sprays for livestock, rates about halfway between "dangerous" and "safe" on the toxicity scale of the common insect sprays and powders.

If you should get lindane on your skin, wash the area, immediately with soap and water. If lindane is accidentally swallowed, induce vomiting to empty the stomach, take two tablespoons of Epsom salts and call your physician.

Dr. Bradley offers these suggestions for handling insecticides: read all labels on packages and follow them exactly; wear protective clothing and change to clean clothing after a spraying job; store all insecticides in original packages, away from food and foodstuffs and out of reach of children and animals; dispose of containers by burning or burying them; call a physician immediately if someone is known or suspected to be poisoned; administer proper antidote.

In addition, Dr. Bradley warns against breathing dust, mist, or vapors from insecticides, spilling liquid spray on your skin, or eating or smoking until after you have washed your hands and face following a spraying job.



FARMERS WHO want to test their seed wheat should not be misled by scattered reports of poor germination.

Although some wheat may not be good enough for seed, wheat must be germinated properly to get an accurate test. At this time of the year, wheat is in a dormant stage. To get it to germinate, it must be chilled in a refrigerator for 5 or 6 days to break the dormancy.

Scab spores are present on healthy kernels of wheat this year. These spores produce a blight that causes new seedlings to die, so wheat that is being tested for germination should be treated with Ceresan M or Panogen. All seed wheat should be treated before planting.

Low test weight is not necessarily a sure cause for low germination. Tests have shown that wheat with test weight as low as 40 pounds, when properly treated, may germinate around 80 per cent.

WITH YOUR FREEZER rapidly filling up this summer, are you getting the most out of it? Ask yourself these 5 questions.

First, is my freezer well-filled during most of the year and do I have a good rate of turnover? It costs to operate an empty freezer as well as a full one, and as more food is frozen and stored, the cost per pound decreases.

Second, do I have a wide variety of the family's favorite foods in the freezer? Fruits, vegetables and meats should take up most of the freezer space. The specific items should be highly nutritious and taste especially good.

Third, am I following the manufacturer's directions in using my freezer? The amount of food that can be frozen at one time depends on the capacity of the freezer, the kind of food and the nature of the packaging materials.

Fourth, are my foods as good as I would like? Check these points: high original quality, proper handling and packaging, complete freezing within 24 hours, temperatures of 0 deg. F. or lower for storage and use within the proper length of time for the product concerned.

Fifth, does my freezer show good housekeeping? Is it clean, neat and free from odors? Are the foods properly packaged and labeled? Do you know how much of each frozen food you have?

If you do not have a good supply of vegetables in your freezer, now is a good time to replenish your supply. (Fm

Dutch Elm Top Tree Menace

Dutch elm disease, now spreading in the prairie states, is the most serious shade tree disease in the midwest. Introduced into the United States from Europe in 1930, it has spread steadily throughout the northeastern states and is now spreading rapidly in Illinois. Its ultimate arrival in all communities of the state where elms are abundant should be anticipated. Where allowed to go unchecked, the disease has killed thousands of trees in relatively few years, resulting in many communities denuded of trees and large expenditures of money for removal of dead trees.

All elms are susceptible to the disease to some degree. The American elm is the most susceptible of all. When first affected, typically diseased trees are characterized by wilting and discoloration of the leaves of one or more branches, but positive confirmation of the disease is possible only by laboratory test. The disease is caused by a fungus which is carried from diseased elms or contaminated elm wood by elm bark beetles to healthy trees where the beetles fly to feed. The fungus grows and the bark beetles breed in dead and dying elm wood.

There is no known cure for trees affected with Dutch elm disease. However, control of the disease is possible through prevention of infection. Both sanitation and spraying on a community-wide basis are recommended for most effective control. Sanitation, the burning of dead and dying elm wood, not only eliminates breeding material but also destroys large numbers of the bark beetle carriers, and thus reduces the probability of infection of nearby healthy trees.

Dairy Visitors to Taste Concentrated, Fresh Milk

Dairy Day visitors on Sept. 5 at the University of Illinois will have a chance to taste sterile concentrated milk.

This milk has been kept in sealed tins for 2 months at room temperatures without losing quality. You'll have a chance to drink fresh milk at the same time to compare taste. The sterile concentrated milk will be reconstituted with fresh water to its original form.

Sterile milk offers the opportunity to store heavy supplies of milk in spring to fill the gap later when the supply drops. Balancing supply with demand throughout the year will be a big advantage to producers, by resulting in a more stable market for milk.

This display will be supervised by R. W. Bartlett, dairy marketing specialist at the College of Agriculture.

As another Dairy Day feature, G. W. Salisbury, head of the Department of Dairy Science, will discuss reasons behind some of the current research in the department. He will tell about research results that show the value of milk records alone for improving production efficiency in a dairy herd. This research shows the value of keeping records in the weigh-a-day-a-month program now offered by county farm advisers.

Salisbury will also tell visitors why scientists are interested in developing purified diets for dairy animals and will discuss other current experiments in the field of dairy cattle nutrition. Other dairy department staff members will also appear on the morning program.

Glenn L. Johnson of Michigan State university will highlight the afternoon program with practical tips on managing a modern dairy farm for top income. Lyman McKee, president of the American Dairy association, Chicago, will discuss the association's activities. Both of these men are nationally prominent speakers.

Dairy Day activities on Sept. 5 will get under way with a tour of the dairy barns at 9:30 a.m. DST. Visitors may get their lunch at cafeterias near the meeting place or may bring their own picnic lunches and eat in Illini Grove on the south campus of the University. Fm

Wet Spots Sign of Poor Drainage, Inadequate Tile

Wet spots in which crops were killed or damaged this summer constantly remind Illinois farmers of the need to improve or repair their drainage systems.

Ralph C. Hay, agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, points to those wet spots as signs of either inadequate tile or poor surface drainage.

In far too many cases, Hay says, farmers have depended on tile lines to drain depressions where wet spots occur. And the tile failed them.

Surface inlets to tile lines sometimes will drain water fast enough into the lines to save the crops, Hay says. But surface inlets are not too reliable, since few tile lines are designed large enough to carry much surface water.

Most of the time you can drain depressions in your fields with wide, shallow surface drainage ditches. They will give much better service than tile lines and at less cost. They work best in tight soils that absorb water slowly. But they can be valuable additions to tile drainage during extremely wet seasons even in soils where tile works well.

Surface drainage systems should be engineered. Plans should include outlets large enough to provide for future drainage that may be needed. Sometimes farmer cooperation is needed if the system extends across several farms.

On a map and a profile sheet, make a record of location, size and depth of any tile lines installed, Hay suggests. Aerial maps available through the soil conservation district or the county ASC office make excellent base maps for locating tile lines. A tile line record filed with the abstract to the farm will serve as positive evidence of the tile drainage improvements if you ever need such proof. (Fm
